Victoria Magnificently Responded to Victory Loan Canvass Yesterday

COMMERCIAL AND PRIVATE BUYERS HAVE NOW SUBSCRIBED MORE THAN MILLION DOLLARS TO VICTORY LOAN

Splendid Response Is Shown to Canvassers Notably in Western Suburbs; Percentage Compares Most Favorable With Corresponding Period of Last Year

Not including the investment of the city, or that of the Provincial Government, together amounting to $914,000, up to last night Victoria had bought $1,069,650 worth of Victory Bonds. Yesterday $250,700 worth was added to the grand total. There were 735 applications, making altogether 2,946 applications so far this year. Though the sum taken in on the fourth day of the drive was slightly lower than on the day preceding, it is confidently expected that to-day the victory tide will be swelled by the largest contribution yet, as many large buyers had been waiting until the end of the month to invest, in order that they may secure the interest on their bank accounts.

Compared to last year's figures the sums collected so far are exceedingly encouraging, and the number of applications point to the fact that the community at large is giving a much more ready response than during the previous drive.

The results yesterday, as compared with last year, according to official figures issued at noon to-day are as follows:

1918		1917
4th Day—Thursday, October 24.		4th Day—Thursday, November 15.
Canvassers.....	$154,400	Canvassers.....	$108,250
Banks.....	95,300	Banks.....	74,900
Total.....	$250,700	Total.....	$182,150
Grand Total to Date.....	$1,069,650	Grand Total to Date.....	$618,350

A Fine Response.
A general survey of the results of the first four days of the present drive reveals that Victoria is rising nobly to its task of investing something over a million dollars more than in last year's drive. To gain her objective the city must buy bonds at the rate of more than $250,000 a day during the rest of the campaign. On the first drive, the rate fell below this by nearly $100,000, but on the second day it leaped ahead to a mark $50,000 ahead of the actual average required. On Wednesday nearly $100,000 more than the requisite average was raised, and to-day sees it reached once more.

The most encouraging feature of the drive, however, is the big response of the city in comparison to its efforts last year. It has been pointed out that Victoria has to raise slightly more than one-third of what it subscribed last year, but so far it has gathered in dollars almost two-thirds more rapidly than in 1917.

Last year the citizens had subscribed nearly half their expected quota by the Tuesday of the second week, and in the end they exceeded all expectations. But it must be borne in mind, H. F. Taylor, Island Chairman, points out, that this year's quota is based on the city's effort last year, and the proportionate rate of subscription must be over one-third greater than it was last year.

Number of Applications.
The number of subscribers is another source of gratification to the officials in charge. At the beginning of the second week last year there had been 3,000 applications for bonds. At the end of their third day this year 2,946 applications had been received, and this total rose last night to 2,946.

TISZA KILLED IN BUDAPEST STREET

Former Premier of Hungary Shot and Killed by Soldier

Copenhagen, Nov. 1.—Count Tisza, former Hungarian Premier, has been killed by a soldier, according to a Budapest dispatch to-day. The Count fell victim to a revolver shot while he was out walking.

With Family.
Basel, Nov. 1.—Count Tisza was promenading with his family when he was shot, a Budapest dispatch received here by way of Berlin announces. A woman in the group also was wounded.

Count Tisza, whose life is reported ended by assassination had long been one of the storm centres of Hungarian politics. It was charged that Count Tisza was one of the four men responsible for the war, and the accusation was made that he instigated the assassination of Archduke Ferdinand. A Magyar and Hungarian to the core, Count Tisza was pro-German and aimed constantly at the supremacy of Hungary over Austria within the Dual Monarchy. He was born in 1861, the youngest son of Kálmán Tisza, a leading Hungarian statesman who gave Hungary a consolidated Government.

Twice Premier.
Count Tisza was twice Premier of Hungary, from 1903 to 1905, and from June 6, 1912, to May 23, 1917. He was the centre of many riotous scenes in the Hungarian Parliament during his leadership, and in 1913 fought at least three duels with political opponents. In January of that year he wounded Count Michael Karolyi, a lifelong and bitter opponent, in a duel in Budapest. Up to his retirement from the Premiership he was opposed to the pacifists in Hungary. Within the last year, however, he had urged peace, and in a speech on October 19 declared he no longer had any hopes for an Austro-German victory.

An unsuccessful attempt was made to assassinate Count Tisza in Budapest on October 17. His assailant at that time was arrested.

HUNGARIANS REJOICING BECAUSE AUSTRIAN CONTROL BROKEN AND KAROLYI'S MINISTRY IN CHARGE

National Council Becomes Government of Country Which Has Wrenched Itself From Hapsburg Group; Troops Take Orders From New Administration.

Basel, Nov. 1.—Official announcement has been made in Budapest, says a telegram from the Hungarian capital to-day, of the formation of a Ministry under Count Karolyi.

Copenhagen, Nov. 1.—(Associated Press)—A successful revolution has taken place in Budapest and the Hungarian National Council has taken over the Government, according to a message sent by Count Karolyi to The Berliner Tageblatt.

The message from Count Karolyi, who is head of the Hungarian Independence Party, reads: "Revolution in Budapest and the National Council took over Government. Military and police acknowledge National Council completely. Inhabitants rejoicing."

(Signed) "KAROLYI, President of the National Council."

Croatians Proclaim Themselves in Union With Italian Nation

Copenhagen, Nov. 1.—The Croatians, who completely occupied the naval base of Fiume, on the Adriatic, have proclaimed their union with Italy, according to a dispatch from Berlin.

Czecho-Slovaks Are Organizing State in an Orderly Manner

Copenhagen, Nov. 1.—The organization of the new Czecho-Slovak state is proceeding in an orderly manner, according to reports from Prague received here by way of Berlin. The National Council has appointed new railway, telegraph and postal officials. There have been no special acts of violence against Germans reported.

The new state has seized all the rolling stock of the railways, and has taken possession of the lines as far as Bodenbach, near the frontier of Saxony. The Czechish cars bear the inscription "Free Czechish Socialist Republic."

The German soldiers are being disarmed. All trains carrying food or materials for Austria and Germany have been stopped and the exportation of coal has been forbidden.

Liberty Loan in U.S. Over Subscribed by Over $860,000,000

Washington, Nov. 1.—The Fourth Liberty Loan was over-subscribed by more than $860,000,000. Final reports announced to-day by the Treasury show subscriptions of $8,666,416,306, with more than 21,000,000 purchasers.

DECIDING TERMS FOR THE GERMANS

Supreme War Council of Allies Holding Discussion at Versailles

Versailles, Nov. 1.—The representatives of the Allied nations began their deliberations at the Supreme War Council shortly after noon to-day.

Paris, Nov. 1.—(Associated Press).—The armistice terms to be submitted to Germany will be confined strictly to military requirements except that it will be brought out clearly that they are conditioned generally upon President Wilson's principles, with some modifications.

To-day's deliberations in connection with the armistice were participated in by Belgian and Japanese representatives, the meeting having to do with Germany.

When Austrian affairs were discussed yesterday, Serbian and Greek representatives were in attendance, because of their particular interest in Austrian matters.

ECHO OF RIOTS IN TORONTO LAST SUMMER

Toronto, Nov. 1.—By a vote of two to one the Toronto Board of Police Commissioners yesterday refused to re-open the cases of Inspector Mulhall and Constable Ellis, who were dismissed from the Toronto police force as a consequence of the investigation into the riots of last summer. Judge Winchester and Magistrate Denison were against the reinstatement of the men, while Mayor Church was in favor of giving them another chance.

WITH AUSTRIAN ARMY RUINED, FIGHTING MAY ALREADY HAVE CEASED

London, Nov. 1.—Negotiations between the Italian and Austria-Hungarian military commanders for an armistice are proceeding, according to advices received in London this afternoon. Fighting may already have come to an end.

Washington, Nov. 1.—Official Rome dispatches to-day describing the victorious sweep of the Italian and Allied armies that is demolishing the Austrian front, say the Allies are moving forward in such great leaps that it is no longer possible to identify towns retaken or to count the prisoners and guns captured or the Italians liberated.

With the Austrians everywhere in flight and the Italian armies on the two wings about to unite, it is said to be impossible to foresee where the few enemy divisions that escape will stop running.

Sixty thousand Italians held by the enemy to work on defences in occupied territory already have been released.

Rome Report.
Rome, Nov. 1.—In their offensive against the Austrians on the Monte Grappa front in Northern Italy the Italians have pressed the enemy so strongly that his front has collapsed, the War Office announced to-day.

The Italians have forced the Gorge of Quero, have passed beyond the spur east of Montecassino and are advancing in the Piave Valley.

The text reads: "We advanced in the Brenta Valley, capturing two guns which had been shelling the city of Bassano."

Collapsed.
"On the Grappa sector, under the impetus of the Fourth Army's thrust, the enemy front has collapsed. It is impossible to estimate the prisoners coming down the mountains in flocks. All the hostile artillery here was captured. We have forced the Gorge of Quero, have passed beyond the spur east of Montecassino and are advancing in the Piave Valley."

"Overcoming the enemy rearguards at the Passo di St. Buldo, we are descending into the Piave Valley toward Belluno."

"Parties are engaged in fighting in the hollow of Padalio, which still is occupied by the enemy. Cavalry units circling around following the road to the foothills, are opening the way to Aviano."

The Third Army has reached the Livenza.

Demonstrations in Front of Government Buildings in Vienna

Basel, Nov. 1.—Vienna was quiet until 7 o'clock last night, after which there were demonstrations in front of the Ministry of War, according to a Vienna dispatch quoting the semi-official news agency which customarily is used for making court announcements.

To-day's Vienna newspapers deny that Emperor Charles has left the capital.

Crowds in Vienna Shouted For End of the Hapsburg System

Copenhagen, Nov. 1.—Under the heading "A Republic on the march," the Berliner Tageblatt of Wednesday gave details of the events of that day in Vienna.

The demonstrations began in the forenoon with a meeting of students, who were joined by workmen, in front of the Parliament Building. President Diefenhofer, of the National Council, in a speech declared the national Government would take over the whole administration on Thursday.

"But without the Hapsburgs," shouted the crowd.

An officer in uniform then called on the soldiers and officers to remove the Imperial cockades. His appeal was obeyed with enthusiasm. The Imperial standard flying before the Parliament Building then was hauled down upon the order of President Goss, of the Austrian lower House.

INDICTMENTS WILL FOLLOW AEROPLANE INQUIRY IN STATES

BRITISH CLOSE IN ON VALENCIENNES

Latest Report Says Haig's Men Are on Three Sides of City

London, Nov. 1.—2 p.m.—Field-Marshal Haig's forces have made good progress in the attack they launched this morning in the region of Valenciennes. That city is reported to be surrounded on three sides.

Fifteen hundred prisoners were taken by the British this morning.

London, Nov. 1.—"An operation undertaken by us this morning south of Valenciennes is reported to be making good progress," Field-Marshal Haig reported to-day.

"In successful minor enterprises carried out by small parties of our troops in the region of Le Quesnoy yesterday we captured a number of prisoners."

French Report.

Paris, Nov. 1.—Violent artillery battles were in progress last night on the French front along the Oise near Guise and in the Aisne region near St. Fergueux, northwest of Chateau Porcien, according to to-day's War Office announcement, the text of which follows:

"During the night there were violent artillery duels in the region of Guise and west of St. Fergueux."

Pressure Maintained.

London, Nov. 1.—On the Western front from the Dutch border to Switzerland the Allies are maintaining their pressure, but except for the new British thrust about Valenciennes, the fighting activity is confined to artillery duels of varying intensity.

East of the Argonne Forest General Pershing's troops have advanced north of Grand Pre and have established themselves in the southern part of the Lages Wood. Along this front a heavy artillery duel now is being fought.

Report From Pershing.

Washington, Nov. 1.—American troops drove the Germans out of the village of Briailles, on the west bank of the Meuse, in yesterday's fighting near Verdun. General Pershing in an evening communique for Thursday announced the capture and says artillery firing was lively on the whole front during the day.

Seven enemy aeroplanes were shot down, all the American machines returning safely. Bombing expeditions described in press dispatches are officially reported.

DELBRUECK MAY PRESENT ABDICATION DOCUMENT TO WILHELM FOR SIGNATURE

Copenhagen, Nov. 1.—The rumors of Kaiser Wilhelm's abdication were at least premature, The Berlin Vossische Zeitung said in Thursday's issue. It added, however, that the abdication question had been discussed at the latest meetings of the War Cabinet, and it was stated former Vice-Chancellor Delbrueck had left for the front on an independent mission for Chancellor Maximilian.

It was generally supposed, the newspaper said, that Dr. Delbrueck would present the Kaiser with an abdication document.

NOW EVIDENT GALIANO WAS ENGULFED WITH LOSS OF ENTIRE COMPLEMENT

Apart from the wireless message flashed ashore last night stating that the body of Seaman W. A. Ebbs, and wreckage had been picked up by the steam trawler George E. Foster, approximately twenty-eight miles east-southeast of Cape St. James, no further definite information had been received up to a late hour this afternoon that might lead to the solving of the Galiano mystery.

The Department of Naval Service has abandoned all hope for the safety of the vessel or any members of her complement, it being officially announced that all hands were lost when the Galiano sank in Queen Charlotte Sound on October 20. There is now no question but that the Galiano foundered during the early morning hours of Wednesday last when overwhelmed by the tremendous seas whipped up by the snorting south-westerly gale.

AEROPLANE INQUIRY

ENDS IN THE STATES

Court-martial Proceedings Are Recommended Against One Officer; Prosecutions

Washington, Nov. 1.—The mistakes, failures, delays and wastages in the aeroplane production programme under the administration of the old Aircraft Board before the re-organization last May are detailed in the report of the investigation conducted by Charles E. Hughes and Attorney-General Gregory. The report recommends court-martial proceedings against one army officer concerned and criminal prosecutions for three others.

The chief blame for the failures is charged by the Hughes report to defective organization in the Army Signal Corps and the lack of competent direction of the work by the responsible officers of the Corps. The reports find that there were delays in getting aeroplane models from the Allies and preparing specifications for their production; that plans frequently were changed, to the embarrassment of contractors, that some manufacturers will qualified by organization and experience could not get orders while others apparently with few qualifications, if any, did succeed in getting them, and that there was confusion and waste in the plants.

The report exonerates from any wrongdoing the civilian personnel of the Aircraft Production Board.

ALLIED TROOPS TOOK BITE IN BELGIUM

Wrenched Important Territory From the Enemy Southwest of Audenarde

London, Nov. 1.—Field-Marshal Haig reported last night:

"The British Second Army attacked this morning southwest of Audenarde (east of Courtrai), capturing all its objectives and 1,000 prisoners.

"There was intense aerial activity yesterday (Wednesday) over the whole of the front. Sixty-four enemy machines were destroyed and fifteen driven down. Including two machines destroyed on the ground, the total of sixty-six German planes known to have been accounted for, without considering those driven down, established a record for one day.

"This was accomplished with proportionately small losses. Eighteen of our machines are missing."

Important Territory.

With the British Army in France and Belgium, Oct. 31.—Via London, Nov. 1.—Another big slice of important territory was torn from the enemy to-day along a wide front in Belgium between Deynze on the north and Avelghem on the south, by an Allied force composed of Belgian, British, French and American troops.

The attack was launched at 5.30 o'clock this morning and by noon the British had jammed their way forward to a depth of some 4,000 yards. On their left the Allies were battling for the high ground between the Lys and Escourt Rivers. The reports indicated that here also things were going well for the assaulting troops.

Numerous towns and hamlets have been released by this drive, among them Bergwijk, Tieghem, Anseghem and Winterken.

The troops to the north earlier in the day had wrenched away a considerable portion of the ridge system and were going ahead well. This ridge dominates the city of Audenarde to the east. The attack on this sector had been an obvious move by the Allies since they had the Germans shoved back against the waterways to the south. For this reason the German command had issued orders to its troops that they must hold here at all costs. If they desired an armistice, it being represented that if they retired the Allies would not want to abandon the fighting. The main resistance was made by machine guns, most of whom were Frisians, although the hostile artillery replied vigorously to the Allied barrage.

As early as 9.30 o'clock this morning British troops were seen entering Tieghem, and half an hour later the enemy was streaming back from hard pressed Anseghem. In the meantime the French on the British left had battled their way forward to the Anseghem Chateau, where there was a German mortar battery position. The British were assisted by French tanks. Nine of these surrounded the battery and forced its surrender.

French Report. Paris, Nov. 1.—The following official report was issued here last night: "During the course of the day very violent engagements took place on the west slopes of the St. Fergaux plateau, which turned to our advantage and enabled us to take 120 additional prisoners.

Aviation: On October 30 aerial observers in reconnoitering expeditions brought back important reports. Many fires were observed in the region of Marle and Montcornet. Seventeen enemy planes were brought down or seen to fall in a damaged condition, and one balloon was burned. Our bombing machines dropped 26,850 kilos of projectiles on the railway stations at Longuyon, Mezières, Hirson, Dommary-Baroncourt, Spincourt, Launois, Chimay, Montcornet and Vervins, as well as on "cantonnements" and bivouacs in the region of Chaumont-Porcien and Montcornet.

Belgian communication: The army groups in Flanders made slight progress along the Belgian front to-day, taking prisoners.

Enemy's Schemes Upset.

British Headquarters in France, Oct. 31, via London, Nov. 1.—(Reuter's).—Objective maps of German orders and battle objective maps that have recently fallen into our hands show how complete has been the miscarriage of the enemy's schemes.

Great efforts were made to bolster up the men's lagging spirits by impressing them with the idea that the more strenuously they fought, the better would be the prospect for favorable peace terms. Thus, under date of October 12, the following document was issued:

"The high command states that the possibility of an armistice depends on the battle coming to the Allies. Every soldier must carry out his duty night and day. The English must not cross the Selle River; the artillery must prevent them."

Metz as Pivot. With the American Army Northwest of Verdun, Oct. 30.—Via London, Nov. 1.—(Associated Press).—There have been many indications in the last few days that the Germans intend to retire as slowly and strategically as possible from their present positions, especially west of the Meuse, and possibly withdraw entirely from the non-German soil. The vicinity of Metz continues to be the pivot of this retreating movement because of the strategic importance.

Much evidence of this intention on the part of the enemy is especially recognizable on the front of the American Second Army in the Woëvre. Deserters from the German lines and prisoners corroborate this information. Even reports of artillery having been sent from the front east of St. Quentin to the Metz and Vosges regions have been received, and it is believed the Germans have been tearing up narrow gauge railways on some sectors.

Meanwhile the Germans are organizing strong defence systems on the front of the Second Army. The artillery has been echeloned at great depth and corps and divisional headquarters are being moved to the rear. The theory is that the Germans intend to hold stubbornly in this sector while swinging backward on the north, pivoting on Metz. The Germans show great nervousness on the American front.

German Statement. Berlin, Oct. 31, via London, Nov. 1.—Official statement issued here this (Thursday) evening says:

"Hostile attacks from the Dutch frontier as far as the Scheldt broke down before our lines. Between Deynze and the Scheldt the enemy was quickly stopped.

"On the Alsne heights northwest of Chateau Porcien violent French attacks were repulsed.

"There was particular aerial activity yesterday. We shot down fifty-eight aeroplanes and two captive balloons."

SAYS GERMANY KNEW AUSTRIA FAILING

Austrian Premier Says Berlin Aware Year Ago End Was in Sight

Berne, Oct. 31, via London, Nov. 1.—Austria-Hungary was not unfaithful to her agreement with Germany when she sent the recent notes to the United States, Professor Lammach, the new Austrian Premier, declared to the party leaders in Vienna Wednesday, according to the official Vienna Correspondence Bureau. He said all the nations desired to bring an end to the war by the most honorable means possible.

The German Government, he explained, had been informed twenty-five hours beforehand of the measures which Austria-Hungary had been compelled to take. He added that the German Government was aware one year ago that Austria-Hungary was unable to continue the struggle beyond a certain time.

Representatives of the German Government and the German Kaiser had been warned on several occasions, the Premier continued, that Austria-Hungary would hold out as long as the military, financial and economic situation permitted.

Troops. Professor Lammach said he believed the troops at the front would remain faithful to discipline. The Government had taken all measures to bring back the troops to their homes in the most rapid and most orderly manner possible. If the soldiers quit the front prematurely and in disorder the supply system would be endangered.

The Austrian Government was animated by democratic considerations, but believed that definite decisions could only be taken when the soldiers returned from the front. Meanwhile, measures could be discussed provisionally, but would be submitted later to a free and general vote.

The frontiers of the different national domains in the monarchy, the Premier added, would be fixed by agreement between the nations.

TOWNS ON PRAIRIES ISOLATE THEMSELVES TO FIGHT INFLUENZA

Winnipeg, Nov. 1.—Many small towns throughout Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta are being isolated through the spread of the influenza epidemic, it has been learned here. Local health officials are placing towns under quarantine and notifying passenger agents that they are closed up tight. These quarantines mean the temporary closing up of many places of business and a loss of business in many other cases.

Passengers are not allowed to stop off at any of the isolated points and no one is allowed to leave the towns. Railway tickets are not for sale to any quarantined points. Some of these towns have decided to remain under quarantine until all danger is past, while other will lift the ban shortly.

The C. P. R. reports that between forty and forty-five of the towns on its lines through the three provinces have been quarantined. Principal points which have been closed up for time are Deloraine, Virden, Shoal Lake, Oak River, Mankin, Elkhor, Whitewood, Basswood, Bredenbury, Stratclair and Foam Lake.

On the C. N. R., Kipling, Masefield and other places in Saskatchewan are mentioned, and in Alberta the principal places are Athabasca, Forestburg, Meenook, Parryville, Alliance, Gellaher and Lochean.

The names of G. T. P. towns isolated are not available.

AMERICANS CONTROL HAWAIIAN SUGAR

German Holdings in Island Industry Have Been Closed Out

New York, Nov. 1.—Elimination of German control over the Hawaiian sugar industry by the purchase by Americans of the powerful Hackfeld Company was announced here last night by A. Mitchell Palmer, Alien Property Custodian.

The purchase of the German concern was arranged by Mr. Palmer. The new corporation is known as the American Factors, Ltd. Six hundred and forty of its stockholders are residents of the Hawaiian Islands. Shares of the new company, which is capitalized at $7,500,000, were offered to the public and limited to 500 shares to each individual and 2,500 shares to groups of five or more, including families. As a result of this transfer the centre of pro-German propaganda in the Pacific has been destroyed and the German hold on the principal industry of Hawaii permanently broken.

BLOOD IS FLOWING FREELY IN RUSSIA

Britain Means to Bring Murderers to Justice, Says Lord Robert Cecil

London, Nov. 1.—Discussing the position of British subjects in Russia in the House of Commons yesterday Lord Robert Cecil, Assistant Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, said that the Government's information was that the amount of blood shed by the present Government of Russia greatly exceeded anything that ever took place under the Imperial regime.

"There has been no pretence of justice," he said. "People of all nationalities have been arrested and imprisoned without any reason being given. Moreover, there has been a large amount of casual murder and brigandage throughout all of European Russia. There also has been reckless destruction of all means of subsistence. The British Government will shrink from nothing within its power to get every British subject out of the country, and unquestionably means to exact justice on the people guilty of these outrages when it is able to get them in its power."

TURKEY'S SURRENDER

OPENS NEW AVENUES

Increases Allies' Opportunities; Event Created Profound Impression in France

Paris, Nov. 1.—The capitulation of Turkey, although anticipated, nevertheless has made a profound impression in France. The newspapers declare it to be an event of supreme importance.

"The convention is of a purely military character," says The Matin, "and in no way acts the peace which eventually will be signed with the Turkish Empire. What is interesting, however, is the immediate consequences of the armistice. First of all, the Greater part of the British armies in Syria, Palestine and Mesopotamia will be released. The army of the Orient, which will soon be the army of the Suez and the Danube, will perhaps be called upon to play a great role, for which its reinforcement with seasoned elements will be desirable at an early date. When the Dardanelles are opened the Allied fleet will restore direct communication with Roumania, as it is hardly probable that the Goeben, the Breslau and the Russian fleet sent to Germany by the Bolsheviks will offer resistance."

"The Allies will then hold the Mediterranean—outlets of the Ukraine and Greater Russia."

Without a Battle.

The Echo de Paris says:

"The result was not unforeseen. It had been delayed by the presence of German forces in the Turkish capital and waters. They obliged us to display a threat of land and sea invasion. We are happy to record that in view of the incontestable superiority of our arms everywhere, the affair was settled without a battle. It is the most convincing testimony of the complete victory which will be ours in the near future."

Capt. Thierry in The Oeuvre, sums up the situation with a quotation from Martin Luther: "There are moments when our God loses interest in the game and throws the cards under the table."

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 1.—One policeman was killed and six were dangerously wounded here last night in a street riot which resulted from efforts of policemen to arrest a number of sailors on charges of disorderly conduct. HUNGARY INDEPENDENT.

In March, 1917, following fragmentary reports of serious rioting in Petrograd, came the announcement from German sources that there had been a successful revolution in the Russian capital. Today, after reports of street fighting in Budapest, comes the announcement through the same channel and in almost identical the same words that there has been a successful revolution in the Hungarian capital. The author of the announcement is Count Michael Karolyi, leader of the Independence Party in Hungary, who informs The Berlin Tageblatt that the "National Council" has taken over the Government, that the military and police acknowledge the Council's authority, and that the inhabitants are "rejoicing."

The change evidently has not been accomplished without bloodshed, for it is improbable that the ruling Magyar caste, under Tisza, Burian, Andrássy and the rest, and aptly described as the Prussians of Hungary, abandoned the power they have ruthlessly exercised for many generations without a struggle. Apparently Karolyi and the Independence Party had the majority of the troops and certainly the masses of the people behind them. It is clear, also, that the revolution was carefully planned, the movement, of which Karolyi has long been the undisputed champion, having received a tremendous stimulus from the separatist agitation of the Czech-Slovaks, the Jugo-Slavs and other elements in Austria now on the high road to complete emancipation from the control of Vienna and Berlin.

Vienna saw the upheaval coming and tried desperately to avert it. Count Andrássy, a Hungarian, was chosen as Foreign Minister of the Dual Monarchy to negotiate an armistice and peace with the Allies. The Archduke Joseph was sent to Budapest to issue a proclamation announcing the independence of Hungary but not, of course, its independence of the Hapsburgs. The intention undoubtedly was to foist the Archduke Joseph upon the new "independent state" as its sovereign who, with the co-operation of Tisza and the ruling caste, would merely act as the instrument of Vienna.

It was the Hungarian menace more than anything else which spurred Vienna to its desperate peace efforts, first its note to President Wilson and then its communication to Secretary Lansing asking him to plead with the President to obtain favorable terms. The Hapsburgs calculated that they could violate their pledges to Bohemia and the southern Slavs, as they have often violated them before, or win them back later, but they realized that once Hungary became independent their situation would be hopeless. Karolyi and his adherents, however, were not to be taken in by the camouflage. They were too familiar with the Hapsburg record. Disciples of Louis Kossuth, the hero of the abortive revolution of 1849, they remember how the Hapsburgs called in the legions of the Russian Czar to strangle them at Temesvar. They saw clearly, too, that the Allies were not deceived any more than they were and that the first blow delivered at Austria-Hungary from the Danubian and Roumanian front would be at their country.

It cannot be said of Karolyi and his colleagues that theirs has been a death-bed repentance. The Independence Party leaders have declared from the first that the war was planned by Berlin in collaboration with the Magyar leaders who completely dominated Austrian policy. They made this charge time and again and many of them were imprisoned and otherwise punished for doing so. But they were lone voices for a long time. Hungary looked greedily on the Balkans and Roumania. The advance of the Teutonic armies convinced her that she was going to be bloated with conquest and loot and she backed Berlin to the limit. The Hungarians were Austria's best troops, and always the most dependable. Hence, while Karolyi and the Independence Party have consistently opposed Prussianism it was only when Germany was overtaken by defeat, Bulgaria withdrew from the war, the Hapsburg Empire began to collapse and Hungary herself became exposed to invasion and ruin did the movement to abandon the sinking ship of Prussianism assume formidable proportions.

With Hungary independent the last hope of the Hapsburgs of maintaining the fragmentary relic of the Holy Roman Empire intact under their control must go aglimmering. Nothing now can avert complete wreck. The independence of Bohemia and Slovakia, and of the Slavs of Herzegovina, and Bosnia, as well as that of the Croats, now becomes an assured fact, for only with Hungary by her side could Austria have been strong enough to revoke the decrees Vienna recently issued for the freedom of those peoples.

Roumania now is assured of the corner of Hungary known as Transylvania, as well as a portion of Bukovina peopled by Roumanians, while Galicia will go to the new Polish state to be reconstituted as one of the terms of peace. These changes will be among the first consequences of the Hungarian revolution. Others will follow, for the wave of revolt has not yet reached its height. Momentous developments appear to be imminent in Vienna.

MUST INVESTIGATE.

The fact that the Princess Sophia foundered in American waters in no way obviates the necessity of a thorough investigation by the Dominion authorities. The United States Government, no doubt, will do its own investigating, and judging by the caustic comments of The Seattle Post-Intelligencer regarding the inadequacy of aids to navigation in Alaskan waters, there will be plenty to investigate. If those waters were as well lighted as the steamship routes along the Canadian coast the danger of such terrible happenings would be very largely reduced. The Canadian authorities also should conduct a thorough inquiry into the loss of the Galiano. Was she the "proper kind of vessel for the service on which she was engaged at this time of the year? If she was not then the Government cannot escape a large measure of responsibility for the tragedy. All the circumstances surrounding both of these disasters should be inquired into, for they may show wherein the danger of future wrecks can be minimized.

CONTAGIOUS.

The disintegration of Austria will have a profound influence upon the south German states, particularly upon Bavaria and Saxony. Bavaria's close association with Austria, of course, is well known. Not only is she a next-door neighbor, but she has been a hereditary ally of Austria and has fought shoulder to shoulder with her against Prussia just as she has fought alongside France against Prussia. Bavaria, Saxony and other southern German states looked to Vienna for light and leading in all things up to 1866 when the centre of Germanic power for the first time shifted to Berlin.

It was Prussia's military power and nothing else that brought those states into the Hohenzollern orbit, and now that this power has been defeated and discredited we may expect to see them break away, Bavaria linking up with the German district of Austria in an independent unit. Furthermore, Bavaria, Saxony and the other south German states are quite aware that if the Allies struck at Germany through Austria they would be the first to feel the blow. They would be in precisely the same situation as that which moved Hungary to break from Austria.

Hence, we think it safe to predict that these powerful German states also will desert the sinking Prussian ship, which would mean simply that the combination organized by Bismarck at Versailles on the defeat of France in 1871 had been destroyed by the victory of the Allies in the field. And either before this dissolution or afterwards we shall read that there has been a "successful revolution in Berlin."

WHEN DOCTORS DISAGREE.

Medical authorities in various communities, including eminent members of the medical profession, require the public to wear gauze masks as a preventative against the spread of influenza. Other medical authorities, including our own Health Officer, think this expedient is absurd. Undoubtedly a germ which is too small even to be seen through a microscope could penetrate through an infinitesimally small opening of it knew enough to try it; indeed, whole army corps of them could march in open formation through the eye of a needle. But they may not have sense enough to attempt to get through six folders of gauze—the camouflaged countenance may deceive them—whereas an open mouth, to them a vast cavity, or the nostrils, to them two great tunnels, would be targets that could not be missed. Besides, they might have more fun on the surface of the gauze. However, one of the best ways to prevent the spread of an epidemic is for the people to keep their heads. Panic is even worse than carelessness. Corporals Anxiety and Fear are General Influenza's two most useful allies. Medical research has found nothing yet to beat the old-fashioned remedy of common-sense for such crises.

German newspapers are urging their readers to face their troubles like France met hers. A little more than four years ago they declared that France was decadent and would throw up her hands in a panic in a few weeks. Their present appeal is useless. The nation which gloried in the massacre of women and children and which tortured its defenceless prisoners-of-war is incapable of drawing any inspiration from the heroism of France. It will shake itself to pieces in panic and fear. The fortitude which German newspapers are calling upon the German nation to show must have a moral basis; it must spring from the soul. Prussianism debauched Germany's morals and destroyed her soul.

Judging from historical precedent the holder of a Victory Bond will be in a very favorable position a few years hence, for the inevitable decline of interest rates on other securities will naturally increase the value of his investment. It is very unlikely that the Government will pay as much for future loans as it is paying now for the Victory Loan, and therefore bonds which draw 5½ per cent. interest will be top-line securities on the market. Shrewd financial men are investing pretty extensively in the longer term bonds in anticipation of a substantial premium for them when money rates become generally easier.

raked the business district during the first three days, are now being turned on the suburbs of the city, and the larger industrial concerns are all receiving the most minute attentions of the canvassers.

The plant of Yarrows, Ltd., at Esquimalt, was visited yesterday by a picked team of canvassers and speakers, who during the one hour sold a considerable number of bonds to the workmen. The canvassers also concentrated upon the Navy yard with good results, but they will return again to the Esquimalt district again before the campaign closes to make sure there are no idle dollars.

The busy bond sellers started operations, too, at the Assembly Plant yesterday, but they feel that they have so far merely "scratched" the ground, which should yield a rich harvest. They are therefore continuing operations among the workers, those who, it is stated, are responding generously to the call of the loan.

Address Workers.

At noon to-morrow the employees of the Victoria Machinery Depot will be addressed on the subject of Victory Bonds, but they will be canvassed individually during working hours, so that the least possible time will be lost.

Harry Hastings spoke to the workmen at the mill of Leigh & Sons, and at the Moore & Whittington Mill during the noon hour today, and the Chinese employees were also enlightened, in their own language, as to the value of the Loan. Excellent results were accomplished, and it is announced that the Chinese residents of the city are eagerly investing in bonds.

The Canadian Explosives Plant at James Island will be fine-combed for dollars by a team under Vice-President Scott. They will leave town to-morrow morning.

Canvassing Houses.

While picked teams are concentrating upon individual industrial plants, the main canvass of the residential districts is still proceeding with renewed vigor every day. The North Ward and Esquimalt districts are well on Oak Bay and the north of the city, are being thoroughly gone over to-day, but many of the houses will have to be re-visited, because they have postponed their purchase of bonds.

In addition to the canvass of the city, the adds-salesmen are also getting a golden catch from the outlying districts which, having no main settlement, are not organized, as are the upland centres.

Sooke "Goes Over."

One of the finest responses to the needs of the Allies expressed in Victory Bonds was from among the residents of the Sooke District, which was canvassed by a team under John Mowat. The bond salesmen spent three strenuous days in the Sooke section, and in the country from there to the Jordan River, returning to headquarters yesterday with $24,500, when they expected to secure some $5,000.

"The district," said Mr. Mowat, "has found its soul, and it is certainly extremely gratifying. It should serve as an example and an inspiration to the rest of the island." Mr. Mowat told how one old gentleman had walked two miles to buy $500 worth of bonds, and how, after a meeting held on Tuesday night in Jordan River District, $2,000 was subscribed by the men of the camp.

The team headed by Mr. Mowat is now working in the Metochin District. Next week the salesmen will be taken on a Dominion Government boat among the Gulf Islands.

The West Coast.

The obstacles faced by the canvassers of the West Coast have been very recently increased by the epidemic of influenza, but P. Flemming is leaving for the district again to-night in company with W. O'Keil, who will assist him in the difficult task of visiting the lonely camps and canneries.

Next week will see the Saanich District thoroughly gone over.

WITH AUSTRIAN ARMY RUINED, FIGHTING MAY ALREADY HAVE CEASED

"Captures of prisoners, guns and booty are announced on all sides," British Report.

London, Nov. 1.—The occupation of the town of Sialoe, on the Livenza River, fifteen miles east of the Piave, has been announced by the British Office in a report on the operations in Italy, the text of which follows:

"The battle is progressing successfully. British infantry and mounted troops have secured the Sialoe line. The troops of the Tenth Army have reached the line of the Livenza from that place and have proceeded as far south as Brugnera."

Advancing Rapidly.

"South of the Oderzo-Porto Gruardo railway the Third Army is advancing rapidly. The enemy is falling back on the front of the Fourth Army, in the Grappa sector. Many important tactical positions have been captured on this front."

"I (Gen. Lord Cavan, the British commander in Italy) wish to place on record the great debt I owe to the Italian bridging units, without whose assistance the difficult operation of bridging the Piave might not have been accomplished."

"The number of prisoners captured by the Tenth Army since the beginning of the operation now exceeds 13,000."

Drove Ahead.

Italian Headquarters East of the Piave, Oct. 31.—Via London, Nov. 1.—Regardless of reports of a revolution in Vienna the Italian forces are continuing their advance. At some points the Austrians still resist.

Since October 24 General Diaz has carried out his campaign as planned. The lack of the mountains and plains was opened to-day by the taking of Monte Cimone, which gives to the Allies command of the valleys of the Brenta and Cimone. Domination of the Brenta virtually means possession of the Trentino. The command of the Cimone opens the road to Belluno and beyond.

Roads Blocked.

At many points east of the Piave there are so many Austrian prisoners that they block the roads. The road to the Venetian plain immediately east of the Piave is a scene of desolation. When the advancing Italians reached Sialoe they were received as saviours and the women and children of the town fell on their knees before them.

King on Scene.

King Victor Emmanuel has been traveling incessantly from place to place, giving orders for succor for the exhausted population.

Every bridge in the path of the advancing Allies has been the scene of fighting. One railroad bridge near Conegliano was lost and retaken thirty times.

The Tenth Army, operating from Oderzo to Motta di Livenza is trying to cut off the Austrian Fifth Army. The Austrians are trying to cross the Livenza, but are being assailed on three sides. On the north is the Tenth Army, in front of it is the Duke of Austria's Third Army, and from the Adriatic marines are bombarding the enemy with cannon mounted on pontoons.

Many Prisoners.

Italian Headquarters East of the Piave, Oct. 31.—(Via London, Nov. 1.)—The Austrians continue to retire hastily in the plain and the Allies are capturing many prisoners, the number of which can not be estimated accurately.

Weakening Rapidly.

Italian Headquarters East of the Piave, Oct. 31, via London, Nov. 1.—In the mountains the Austrians are retreating somewhat, but their defensive power is waning rapidly.

Without Damage.

Paris, Nov. 1.—The Austro-Hungarian commander on the Italian front, in asking General Diaz for an immediate armistice, argued that under such an arrangement "Venice would be evacuated without damage to the cultivated areas, according to a Budapest dispatch to L'Information."

Careful Examination.

Paris, Nov. 1.—In commenting upon the receipts by General Diaz of a request from the Austrians for an armistice, The Matin says that "it is evidently necessary, before going further, to examine carefully on whose orders the plenipotentiaries who entered the Italian lines are acting."

FRANTIC EFFORTS TO KEEP TROOPS FIRM

German Commanders Told Men If They Stood They Might Get Armistice

British Headquarters in France, Oct. 31.—Via London, Nov. 1.—An order signed by General von Lartich, commanding an army corps in the Busigny sector, dated October 19, found on prisoners says: "We will accept decisive battle on the Lys-Hermann line, which must be held at any price."

The Hermann Line is the Scheidt line, which the British subsequently captured along von Lartich's sector. Another German divisional order said: "The high command has ordered that the troops be made to understand clearly that the Hermann Line must be held at all costs for this reason, namely, if it is held there are good prospects of carrying out peace negotiations or arranging an armistice. If, on the other hand, this line is not held, peace in the near future is out of the question. Make this point clear by word of mouth."

Fresh Attacks.

Another order said: "The main obstacle to a peace of justice is the unbridled will of the enemy army commanders to annihilate the German army. They hope to achieve this by renewed attacks. Only by standing firm can the aim of the enemy army commanders be frustrated and an honorable peace secured. The enemy infantry is inferior in quality and without capacity for resistance. If we turn our backs on them we are lost, and with us the whole German army. If only everyone stands firm, our task is easy and we shall be able to settle accounts with the enemy; but every man must stand. That is the question."

SWISS REDUCING NUMBER OF TROOPS WITH THE COLORS

Berne, Nov. 1.—It is announced by the Swiss Government that the number of troops with the colors is being reduced to a strict minimum. The most of those retained, about eight battalions, are posted along the frontiers to prevent smuggling and espionage in conformity with economic agreements binding Switzerland not to export raw materials which have been imported into this country.

These troops must be maintained even in the event of an armistice, and perhaps for some time after the conclusion of peace to prevent Swiss stocks of foodstuffs from being sent abroad.

--and the TONE TEST proves it

THE tone test is merely a demonstration of the truth of our claim that an Edison Re-Creation is so complete and perfect that no human ear can distinguish the artist's living voice from the instrument's reproduction. To prove it more than 1,500 tests have been conducted in which the artists sang in direct comparison with their own voices on

The NEW EDISON

"The Phonograph with a Soul"

More than 2,000,000 people have attended these tests and not one of them could say when it was the instrument he heard and when the living, breathing artist.

There are many devices for sound reproduction on the market. BUT NOT ONE OTHER MAKER HAS EVER DARED SUBJECT HIS INSTRUMENT TO THE SEARCHING TRIAL OF THE TONE TEST. The reason is clear. Other instruments merely imitate, and an imitation could not successfully meet the test of direct comparison with the original voice. But the New Edison RE-CREATES with such flawless perfection that it is impossible to distinguish artist from instrument.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TO-DAY

Victoria Times, November 1, 1893.

Although it is generally believed among railway people that rates will be restored now that the Fair is over, the local agents have received no advices from the general offices of their respective roads.

Hardly a home in James Bay escaped being disturbed last night. Harlowe's. Gates were unhooked, fence posts painted and doors tied. In the business district a few windows were smashed, and signs turned down.

The theatre was well filled last evening for the public meeting. The members of the Cabinet were given a warm welcome and both made glittering speeches. Mention of Hon. Wilfrid Laurier and his doctrines evoked the greatest applause of the evening.

A BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily and the Pumpkin Pete

Copyright, 1918, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.
(By Howard E. Garis.)

Uncle Wiggily Longears, the bunny rabbit gentleman, was hopping along through the woods one day, hoping he might have an adventure, when, all of a sudden, he heard a voice saying: "Oh, won't we have fun!" "The most fun we ever had!" said another voice. "Well, make his ears look like an elephant's, and his mouth like a jar of molasses." "And his nose," went on the first voice, "why, we'll make his nose a pink, twinkling one, like Uncle Wiggily's." "That's what we'll do!" exclaimed the other chap, and then Uncle Wiggily, who was listening to all this talk, said to himself: "I'd better be careful! I must see who this is talking so about my nose! I wonder what they're going to make, anyhow?" So he pecked between the bushes, and he saw Jackie and Peetie Bow Wow, the two puppy dog boys. And as soon as he had seen them the bunny uncle wasn't at all afraid, for he knew they were friends of his. "Hello, Jackie and Peetie!" cried Uncle Wiggily, in his jolly voice, as he stepped out from behind the bush. "What are you two chaps up to now? Trying to play a trick?" "Well, Jackie, as he wobbled his tail. "You see, it will soon be Halloween, Uncle Wiggily, and Peetie and I want to make a lantern out of a pumpkin and go around shining it in everybody's face. We're going to make a funny nose, like yours, on the pumpkin lantern, and big eyes and ears like an elephant's, and—oh, all that!" "Fine!" cried Uncle Wiggily. "I'll help you. I haven't had any Halloween fun since last year." And it is a good thing Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy the muskrat lady housekeeper, wasn't there, or she would have said Uncle Wiggily was getting too old to have such fun. So the bunny rabbit gentleman twinkled his pink nose, and away he started with Jackie and Peetie to look for a pumpkin out of which to make a lantern for Halloween. You know how to do it. You scoop out the inside of a pumpkin, cut eyes, a nose and mouth, and put a candle inside. But there didn't seem to be any pumpkin for Jackie and Peetie to find. They looked everywhere, in the fields and through the woods, but not a pumpkin did they see. "I guess they must be all made up into pies," buried Jackie. "Or else Cinderella's fairy godmother has taken them all to be changed into tanks to help win the war with," said Uncle Wiggily. "And if that's the case we mustn't mind." "Well, even if we could find a pumpkin we wouldn't waste it," said Jackie. "For, after we finish playing Halloween with it, why it's just as good as ever for pies!" "Sure it is," said Uncle Wiggily. "Well, we'll look a little farther." "So they looked a bit farther, and, all of a sudden, they heard a little voice crying: "Oh, help! Help! Somebody please help me!" "Hat Trouble!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "Of course, I'll help you! Where are you?" "Right here," answered a tiny voice, and, looking among the leaves, Uncle Wiggily and Jackie and Peetie saw a tiny little man, with an apple seed for a head and teeny-weeny pieces of tooth-picks for hands and feet. He was stuck in the crack of a dried leaf and he couldn't get loose. "I'll help you," said Uncle Wiggily, and he kindly lifted the little chap out of the crack in the leaf and set him on a blade of dried grass. "Thank you very much," said the little man. "You did me a big favor, and now I'd like to do you one, even if it's small." Jackie and Peetie were just going to say they didn't see how such a tiny chap could do any one a favor, when the little bit of a fellow said: "I know what you are looking for—a pumpkin. And I'll tell you where to find one. I'll let you have the one I live in. You see, I'm Peter-Peter, the pumpkin eater, but I never eat pumpkins around Halloween, so I can have some to put away for lanterns. Come and I'll show you a big one." So he led the way through the woods to where, under a pile of leaves, were some pumpkins. Jackie and Peetie each took one to make into a lantern for Halloween, and later, so as to waste nothing, Mrs. Bow Wow made them into pies. "Thank you very much," said the puppy dog boys, as they hurried home with the yellow things. "You are welcome," said Pumpkin Pete. So you see, he did do a favor after all, and if the piece of chalk doesn't get a black mark when it goes out walking with the lead pencil I'll tell you next of Uncle Wiggily and the tie-tac.

IN WOMAN'S DOMAIN

Social Personal

Mr. and Mrs. James McLean and family, of Shanghai, have arrived in Victoria.

Miss Vera Mason has gone over to Vancouver to visit her sister, Mrs. Roger Monteith, for a few days.

Mrs. L. H. Carey, of Hamilton, Ont., is a visitor in the city. During her stay she is a guest at the Empress Hotel.

Sergeant Major E. A. Wood, M. M., has gone over to Seattle to spend a short leave, and is among the guests at the Savoy Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Browne and son, Master Howard Browne, of Victoria, have been visiting friends at Edmonds, B. C. Mr. Browne is a member of the staff of the Imperial Munitions Board.

From The Vancouver World: "Mr. Christie, who has been acting manager of the Royal Bank at Victoria during the absence on leave of Mr. F. A. Hanna, has returned to Vancouver with Mrs. Christie."

After spending two years in the North Sea, Skipper Calvin Goodwin arrived in Victoria last week to spend a short furlough with his parents, Captain and Mrs. Goodwin, Yates Street. He left again on Tuesday en route for overseas.

Major J. W. McIntosh, of Vancouver, chief consultant in medicine in Military District No. 11, has been permitted by special request of the A. D. M. S. at Ottawa, to proceed to Camp Lewis to study the infectious situation there and obtain any information which may prove of advantage in the treatment of the disease. He passed through the city on Wednesday en route for Seattle.

John D. Rockefeller, Sr., has turned the three upper floors of his New York home into dormitories for women taking the special courses in recreational work to be started November 23 by the War Work Council of the Young Women's Christian Association, according to an announcement last night. The house has been closed for several years, and Rockefeller was persuaded to donate the use of the rooms by his daughter-in-law, who, as chairman of the War Work Council, is interested in training women to provide recreation for girls in war industries. The rooms, decorated with carved wood inlaid with ivory, will accommodate fifty students. The Red Cross, which last year was given the use of the basement and first floor, will retain these quarters.

VARYING PHASES OF WOMEN'S WAR WORK

Dr. Truby King, who has made New Zealand babies famous and has won renown for his wonderful baby-saving work has taken up the work for which the British Government called him from New Zealand. Baby saving in England is to proceed along strictly up-to-date and efficient lines from this time on. Before going to England Dr. King toured the United States for the purpose of studying the Child Welfare work carried on there. His first work will take the form of a clinic at St. Thomas's Hospital with a course of lectures on "Infant Care" given to the medical students, matrons and nurses in training at the hospital.

Communal Kitchens are not exactly the first things that come to mind when Malta is mentioned—nor are they the last, either, for no one connects food rationing and war-time saving and efficiency with the far-away delightful spots of the old days before the war. But in the Government Elementary Schools of Malta they have a communal kitchen. The cookery is done by the porter in the playground of the school and a wood fire is used. A kind of soup made of vegetables and universally favored by the natives is the main item. Tickets are a penny each and one receives as many portions as one offers pennies. Another similar kitchen is near the dock-yard and is well patronized by the families of the laborers.

"Block Mothers." "Block Mothers" is an attractive name for a very practical idea in social betterment work. The Social Unit Organization of Cleveland, Ohio, is working out an experiment in neighborhood co-operation and the preservation of child life and part of the plan includes the "block mother" as a very important factor. The residents of each city block elect from their number a woman who shall be their representative in the "Citizen Council" which is composed of these "mothers" and which forms the lower house in the community administration scheme. From the skilled residents—business men, ministers, trades-unionists, teachers, physicians and others—there is selected an upper house which acts as adviser and helper to the community through the lower house.

The occupational group of the upper house subsidizes into special branches. For instance, the thirty-six physicians living in the district chose from their number a committee of nine who annexed all the nurses of the district and formed a Medical Council. This council has charge of the work for the "Children's Year." One of the first things they did was to take a census of all children of the district using the "block mothers" for this work. In ten days there was a registration of 1,000 children. Through the "block mothers" the Medical Council carries on the main part of its health propaganda, and it is planned ultimately to organize a district-wide conference of mothers who will be instructed by members of the Council. Many women and children who would otherwise never be reached by helpful educational agencies are brought into closest touch with social betterment.

Unity is Strength. The women of Minnesota are out to win the war and believe in the motto: "In union is strength." To that end they have issued the following appeal to all the women of their state: "We are one people with one job—to win the war as soon as possible. This is going to take every kind of effort from all of us. Yet everywhere and again and again we meet little groups who are so intent on one phase of service that they lose sight of the others. The Red Cross, the Council of National Defense, and the Food Administration are all called to service by the Government to serve in this world crisis, and they can only make such service 100 per cent effective if they stand absolutely together, doing team work.

November's Birthstone—Topaz. Its meaning—Fidelity.

Toilet Sets and Pieces in French Ivory and Ebony

French Ivory and Ebony Toiletware possesses the happy combination of being serviceable and one of the most appropriate of gifts.

It is the function of the Red Cross to serve the soldier and the sailor at the front and to care for their families here at home. It is the function of the Council of Defense to try to Americanize the alien, to stimulate food production and conservation, to aid in Liberty Loans, to carry on campaigns in child welfare, in protection of women in the news, in industries, etc. It is the function of the Food Administration to make the food go around. But these are only different phases of the same big job, and to work for one does not relieve us of the obligation of working for the others. So we, who represent the Red Cross, the Council of Defense and the Food Administration, are sending this joint appeal to our workers all over Minnesota to stand by each other, serving these threefold forms of government war service with perfect unanimity.

NATIONAL KITCHENS

Movement Spreads in England, Where Kitchens Serve Big Industrial Sections.

With the idea of community kitchens growing in favor in Canada, and all over this continent, some publicity is being given to English national kitchens which have sprung into prominence since the war. The kitchens are entirely self-supporting. At the People's Kitchen at Hammer-smith, London, over 6,000 customers, representing probably 12,000 to 15,000 consumers, are served weekly. Another in an industrial section serves 2,000 diners daily. Ordinarily the patrons bring their own dishes, cans or bowls in which to carry home the cooked food purchased. The usual menu consists of soup, meat, vegetables and dessert. This combination, with bread, makes available a complete and satisfactory meal without any cooking in the home.

At some of the kitchens the food is both cooked and distributed; at others it is all cooked at a central kitchen, and then rushed by motor truck to various distributing stations convenient to the homes of the patrons. One of the newest and largest kitchens is delivering the hot cooked food to offices, shops and homes in the territory it is serving, an extra charge of two cents being made for each delivery. For a small charge a patron may have use of table and chair at the kitchen, and eat his meal there if desired.

THE HARBOR OF ETERNITY.

Oh Death so feared! Where is thy sting? Oh Grave! Where is thy victory? Our friends who pass await us now In the Harbor of Eternity.

Mourn not! Our friends have gone to dwell In that great world where all shall be Safe on the Everlasting Shore In the Harbor of Eternity.

Mourn not! Though Death has stretched his hand, God's love shall comfort all who see; Our friends have passed to that fair land In the Harbor of Eternity.

Mourn not! Have faith, for God knows best; Go bow your heads to His decree! They've gone to the eternal life In the Harbor of Eternity.

Mourn not, that they have left us here To do our part ere yet we die; They've gone to finish their life's work In the Harbor of Eternity.

LOUISE SHRAPNEL KEITH, Victoria, B. C. Oct. 26, 1918.

(These lines have been suggested by the recent mass disaster—the loss of the Princess Sophia.)

REASSURING MOTHER.

Edmund had just begun to attend the public school, and had found a new friend, a child of whom Edmund's mother had never heard. "Who is this Walter?" she asked. "Is he a nice little boy?" "Yes, ma'am, he is!" replied Edmund enthusiastically. "Does he say any naughty words?" pursued his mother. "No," replied Edmund with emphasis, "and I'm not going to teach him any!"—Exchange

CAT AND NINE TAILS AS HUNS' PERSUADER

German Officer Kicked Kuemmel Over; Private Shot Him Dead

WHOLE PLATOON GAVE UP AND SURRENDERED

Writing to friends in the city under recent date, a well-known member of the legal profession, who left Victoria in the ranks of the 194th (Western Universities) Battalion in the summer of 1917, makes interesting reference to the part played by the Canadians during the smashing of the Hindenburg line. The letter also refers to a chat with a German prisoner who likewise gives a glimpse into the state of mind of the average German soldier and his view of the internal situation. All the more interesting in the light of events which have characterized the news of the last few days.

World of Desolation.

He says in part: "The Canadians have again made substantial head of prisoners and guns, smashing through the old Hindenburg line in places. The conditions they had to face were harder than those out on Foye Road in the August 3 offensive. From one point which is a rather high altitude, we were able to look at the surrounding country for miles and in every direction a more complete view than can be obtained even from Vimy Ridge. We were able to see positions which we ourselves had for two months. Shell fire has wrought incredible devastation; villages have been levelled to the ground so that even a whole brick does not remain and thousands of acres of fine farming land are literally perforated with shell-holes. This, of course, really refers to the results of four years' of more or less continuous shell fire.

German Lacked Ammunition.
"One of our charges," the reference continues, "had quite an interesting talk with a German prisoner. The latter said the Germans had received no ammunition for three days preceding the attack; also that their only reinforcement they were receiving were seventeen-year-old boys or the 1923 class, many of whom came up to the front line crying. Curiously enough, in an advanced German trench filled with dead and equipment we found a cat-and-nine-tails. As a corporal punishment is permitted in the German Army, one can infer that the Sergeant-Major or other N. C. O.'s used it to get the young boys into the proper frame of mind."

Prophecy!

"The prisoner went on to say that in the morning of his capture, the German officer in charge poured out the kuemmel allocated to the platoon and then kicked the whole lot over. No sooner had he displayed his spleen than a private levelled his rifle and shot him dead, whereupon the whole platoon decided to surrender when the Canadians came over, which they did. The prisoner further stated that they were many people in Germany waiting for an opportunity to overthrow the existing system. While one cannot place too much reliance on statements of this sort, yet the type of prisoner referred to comes of the same class and quite able to think and act for himself."

DR. PRICE'S WARNING.

To the Editor.—Are there still some citizens of Victoria who do not realize that there is an epidemic of influenza raging through the city? Judging from the crowd which gathered in Government and View Streets Wednesday, one might be led to believe that there were many who knew nothing of the epidemic. Or is it that they know of the epidemic and yet are so selfish that they cannot forego the satisfying of their curiosity to see a foolhardy and useless feat—a man apparently endangering his solitary life while they, the spectators, were doing a much more foolish thing and were endangering the lives of many? They were doing the very thing to increase and prolong the epidemic in our midst.

Has it not been stated over and over again that influenza is a crowd disease? Has the fact not been impressed upon them by the closing of churches, schools and theatres and are they not aware that there is a very serious check to business, grave financial loss to many and considerable loss of life through the continuance of the epidemic? Have they not been asked time and again to co-operate with the Health Department in the endeavor to check the epidemic, to save life and to save business? Do they realize the strenuous work carried on by the doctors of the city and by that noble band of nurses and girl helpers who night and day are risking their lives and giving up their own comfort to attend to the comfort of others?

In some other cities much more stringent orders are made; persons are not allowed to congregate even in groups of three or four, only one is allowed to leave home at a time to go shopping, masks are worn in the street and everywhere and stores are closed. Will it be necessary to go to these extremes in Victoria? It may.

I blame the crowd for gathering yesterday, but I blame far more those who instigated the whole thing. Surely the citizens of Victoria, are patriotic enough to subscribe with the best of our ability to the Victory Loan without having to be coaxed to action with a silly show which has nothing to do with patriotism. I know we are.

I would say to some citizens: "Wake up! Realize that there is a war on, a war in our very midst, an epidemic of influenza. Do not sneer at the enemy. Do not belittle it by calling it 'Flu.' Give it its full name, be serious and realize that the undertakers are busy. Remember the four rules which I published before ever a case appeared in Victoria:

Do all you can to keep from getting the disease.
If you do get it, go to bed.
Send for a doctor.

Do all you can to prevent the spread of the disease to others.

Accomplish the first and last rules by avoiding crowding, by washing out your nostrils and throat with a weak solution of salt and water, and of some mild antiseptic such as Glycol-Thymoline several times every day, and by breathing fresh air, keeping windows open.

If every man, woman and child will follow this simple advice the whole epidemic will be stamped out in a few weeks and churches, schools and theatres will again be opened. Carrying on as at present, crowding and neglecting personal hygiene of mouth, nostrils and throat is only prolonging the epidemic indefinitely. Doctors can but advise and treat their patients; nurses can shower their kindly attention upon the sick, but it depends entirely and solely upon the co-operation of individuals of the public to bring this epidemic to a speedy close.

I would further call the attention of those who are attached with influenza to the second and third rules. It is the disregarding of these rules which has been the cause of most fatalities. It is the keeping up and about and not going to bed at the very first of the attack, or not keeping in bed until sufficiently recovered which has been the cause of nearly every case of pneumonia. The third rule, "send for a doctor" is of importance. It is unwise for anyone to tinker with his own health by taking of patent medicines and advertised remedies about which they know nothing and which may do harm.

This letter is written in full earnestness in the endeavor to stamp out this epidemic, in the endeavor to save the lives of many of Victoria's citizens and in the hope that it may call forth the full co-operation of all. The advice is not lightly given. I mean every word of it, and I thus appeal to every man, woman and child to do his or her duty.

ARTHUR G. PRICE.

INFLUENZA.

To the Editor.—As the present war has shown up in bold relief many of the frailties, incompetencies and absurdities of our social and economic systems, so has this epidemic revealed the inadequacy of our medical system. Without any criticism of measures which have been suggested, and with more than a congratulatory word for Dr. Price who has shown an administrative capacity beyond the average physician, let us, from the ghostly spectre of the present crisis look to the future and immediately begin to clear away the accumulated rubbish of professional exclusiveness, and show the public that we are not what we have so often been accused of—mercenary pirates preying upon the prejudices and misfortunes of the public—but their servants, waiting at all times to give relief and assistance, and in the coming social reconstruction, a unit in the new state, a unified factor of service.

In defiance of present professional procedure, here is the first shot, it is a blow directly aimed at that which seems even yet to be considered by some as the great factor of dignity and professional self esteem exclusiveness and secrecy.

Away with such follies of the past! What we have to receive from society and to society we owe it with interest accrued.

Since from the pen of experience little has appeared in the public press relative to the treatment of influenza, I herewith submit what I have found satisfactory.

1. Get to bed.
2. Open the bowels freely and the windows more freely.
3. Keep plenty of fresh air in the bed room.
4. Drink copiously of hot water, hot lemonade or hot ginger tea; take from three to six cupfuls.
5. Take "Liquor Ammoniac-Aceticus." Children from one-half to one teaspoonful; adults from one to two tablespoonfuls every half hour, until free perspiration is induced, then lessen the amount given keeping up the amount of perspiration for at least six hours, then continuing the medicine in smaller doses and at less frequent intervals for at least twelve hours, increasing the medicine at any time the skin should become dry, do not waken the patient to give medicine.

6. Take all the fluid food that is possible to digest.
7. See that the bowels act at least once a day.
8. Give no alcohol.
9. Keep the patient in bed at least one week and always two days after the temperature has become normal.

PREMIER OLIVER FORECASTS NECESSITY OF LEGISLATION TO SAFEGUARD RIVER BANKS

Returns From Regina Conference; Says Prairie Provinces Must Have Relief From Excessive Freight Rates and Tariff; Business Talks Throughout Province

Having successfully dodged the "flu" during his peregrinations through the lower and eastern sections of the Province, Premier Oliver returned to his office at the Parliament Buildings this morning much refreshed after an absence from the capital of nearly three weeks. Mr. Oliver left the city on the evening of October 12, and since that time he has attended the conference of the four Western Premiers at Regina. On his return journey he called at a number of points on the Mainland for the purpose of discussing first hand a number of vitally important Department matters.

Difficult Situation. Dealing first with the Regina Conference, called together at the request of the Federal Minister of Immigration and Colonization, Mr. Oliver stated that the discussion centered upon the Hon. Mr. Calder's land settlement proposals. And while they were favorably received on the whole he declares there is a feeling that unless the Prairies get relief from the heavy imposts of the protective tariff and excessive freight rates the position of the agriculturist when normal times again appear will not be an enviable one. The conditions of agricultural production under the present system of taxation, aggravated by the high scale of freight rates, says the Premier, are extremely difficult. The whole subject was thrashed out in the presence of the Federal Minister in the hope that some amelioration in the near future may be possible.

The Coming Conference. The Conference agreed that the time was ripe for the Dominion Government to call together all the Provincial Premiers of Canada with the object of formulating a concrete policy whereby conditions of agricultural settlement could be so improved as to take care of the influx of new citizens after the war. British Columbia's Premier at this stage pointed out that he had already asked Sir Robert Borden to take the provinces into counsel to deal with the problem of settling soldiers on the lands of Canada, pleading that until a broad Canadian policy were formulated little success could be expected.

In reply to Premier Oliver's suggestion of September 27, Sir Robert's call to the executive heads of the various provinces, issued a few days ago, places the subject of Soldier Settlement at the head of the list of topics to be tabled for deliberation at the Conference, it should be noted.

The Premier came into contact with Spanish influenza round the Conference table at Regina, for before the proceedings had advanced this Hon. C. A. Dunning, Minister of Railways, Telephones and Provincial Treasurer of Saskatchewan, and the Hon. H. E. Knowles, Provincial Secretary of Saskatchewan, had perforce to withdraw, and take to their respective beds. Happily both gentlemen have since recovered.

All Well at Golden. From Regina the Premier proceeded to Golden, where he was waited where for a full day one deputa-tion followed another each in turn leaving the Ministerial presence without any doubt as to the meaning of the Premier's year or nay. In the evening at the Hume Hotel business men and Premier gathered round a war time board after which politics were studiously ditched, the Premier suggesting that he wished to talk the business of the province in a business way with business people.

Local matters, soldier settlement, and general development came in for lengthy discussion and at the conclusion of the informal conference the gathering expressed itself as highly appreciative of the opportunity Mr. Oliver had afforded them of talking business from a business, and not a political standpoint. It was the opinion of the informal meeting that a series of such talks would make for the better government of the province, in all of which Mr. Oliver was found to be in perfect accord.

Send Us Liquor. The same procedure was followed at Kaslo and, irrespective of party affiliation, the Premier's visit and informal business chat were highly appreciated. From Kaslo the tour was continued to Slocan, New Denver and Slocan City, where lack of decent railway connection prevented any more than a short stay between boat and train. At Rossland the Mayor and the local member took the Premier in hand; but before Mr. Oliver had been in the city many minutes he was pounced upon by the local doctor who was bemoaning his fate with four hundred cases of "flu" on his hands and not a drop of alcoholic liquor within miles of the place. Mr. Oliver's wire to Victoria rectified that in as quick time as transit would permit.

A Miner's Suggestion. At Trail Mr. Oliver was met by the Opposition member, Mr. Schofield, who piloted him amongst the business people of the city, with whom many matters of local and Provincial interest were taken up. From Trail the Premier proceeded to Fernie and was there met by the sitting member, the City Council, the Board of Trade and a deputation of miners. The Council took up the question of river bank protection. Mr. Oliver's views upon which are fully quoted above. The deputation of miners dealt with an all round situation, including the one shift system, more ventilation in the mines, more inspection, etc. In fact, encouraged by better conditions for the last two years, one of the members of the deputation declared that if the Government would only take over the mines and operate them, there would be enough business in it to right the financial ship of State.

This was a little too much for the Premier in one interview, and he proceeded to inspect damage caused to the river banks at Fernie in company with the member and Public Works Engineer Foreman. As a result of inspection, certain work will be advised by the Premier.

Damage by Capilano. The damage caused by the Capilano River at North Vancouver, which Mr. Oliver saw yesterday, confirmed the opinion he had formed in the interior, and he sees no permanent result here until the river channel is virtually channeled in by concrete bank protection work.

Mr. Oliver will now be in town until he leaves for Ottawa for the Conference of Provincial Premiers, scheduled for November 19.

STAGGERING GERMANY HAS NO ASSISTANTS

New York Papers Say Allies Can Have No Pity for Her

New York, Nov. 1.—Under the caption "Germany stands alone," The New York Times editorially says:

"Turkey follows Bulgaria in the path of full surrender. Austria is not far behind Turkey. "Germany now stands alone. Abandoned one after another by all her accomplices in the crime of 1914, she confronts the wrath of the civilized world, infinitely the greatest malefactor of all, and the instigator of the war in which her allies only did her bidding. There is no trace of heroism in the attitude she assumes in the hour of defeat. The magnanimity so often manifested toward a conquered foe is denied to her because she is unworthy of it. Pity for her distress, which is beyond the power of calm endurance, is withheld for a like reason. She has shown no pity herself; she deserves none. She is a criminal nation whose offences transcend all human experience, and the only concern the world feels as to the degree of punishment is that it shall completely and forever put it out of her power to bring about another embroilment of the nations."

Surrender Demanded. The Herald says: "The capture by the British forces of the Turkish army which had been operating on the Tigris undoubtedly bears the relationship of cause to the surrender made effective yesterday.

"Austria-Hungary also is very close to the unconditional surrender stage, if not already upon it, although politicians at Vienna and Budapest are endeavoring to make their peoples believe that all the peace moves are making for an Austro-Hungarian, therefore a Prussian, peace."

"Bulgaria, Turkey and Austria-Hungary—what about Germany? Fighting against the Prussians in 1914, she was as hard as it knew how to drag the victorious Allies to a negotiated peace."

Until Germany surrenders unconditionally there can be no stopping of no letting up in the war. On with it. We have just begun to fight."

Inevitable. The World says the collapse of Turkey was inevitable. Austria-Hungary is ready to go the same way as her allies, Bulgaria and Turkey," the paper says.

"In her frantic efforts to secure peace by negotiation, Austria-Hungary faces the necessity of capitulation. She has reached the only logical end of the war—the conclusion of peace upon just terms by the statesmen charged with that duty by the victorious nations for which they speak."

Germany Will Cringe. The Tribune says: "The Quadruple Alliance was a plunderer pure and simple. It had no basis except the weaknesses and greed of four predatory nations. Not one of these nations drew the sword in self-defence. The honor of no one of them was touched."

"Germany has slain Austria-Hungary, as she has slain Turkey. "Germany was ferocious in her hour of triumph. She will be panic-stricken and cringing in her hour of defeat."

VANCOUVER WANTS STORES CLOSED ON SATURDAY AT 6 P. M.

Vancouver, Nov. 1.—After consulting with local health officers this morning, the city officials decided to ask the Provincial Government for an Order-in-Council closing the stores in this city on Saturday at 6 o'clock in the evening, as a precaution against a further spread of Spanish influenza. Seventy-seven new cases of Spanish influenza were reported this morning, making the total number to date 3,352. There have been 175 deaths in the various hospitals from the malady.

REFRIGERATOR CARS.

Ottawa, Nov. 1.—Complaints from the Okanagan Valley that fruit districts are not getting proper refrigerator car service have been before the Railway Commission. Sir Henry Drayton, chairman of the Commission, points out that the Canadian Pacific Railway has had to use a large proportion of its refrigerator cars in the overseas movement of fresh meats. He adds that the C. P. R. has gone on the market for heaters and purchased a considerable supply, although far short of supplying all cars which may now be required.

Sir Henry, under the circumstances, does not think it feasible to order more than the steps already taken.

BELGIANS RETURN TO LIBERATED HOMES

Young and Middle-Aged Liberated Men Joining Belgian Army

Belgian Headquarters in Flanders, Oct. 31.—Via London, Nov. 1.—After four years of exile, the residents of the now liberated sections of Belgium are returning home. On all roads peasants' carts and other vehicles loaded with household goods are moving north and east of the rear of the old battle-line. The returning ones exhibit no exhilaration, merely plodding on behind their carts silently, apparently unwilling to rejoice before they have seen their villages and know that their homes are intact.

Young men and middle-aged men are on the roads, but they are moving toward the south. Being of military age, the men are going to join the Belgian army. They succeeded in escaping deportation by the enemy by hiding in cellars and elsewhere when the Germans departed.

Condition of People.

The population does not appear to have suffered physically during the German occupation. The women and children appear to be healthy and many declared they had suffered no actual privations. "But it was due to the American Food Commission," they added. "Had we been at the tender mercies of the Germans, we should have starved."

The American Red Cross and the American Food Commission already are extending relief. The reconquered country is badly in need of food of all kinds.

German burglary insurance companies in 1917 paid $900,000 in claims, against $75,000 in 1914. The railways paid in 1917 $3,000,000 compensation for goods stolen, against $200,000 in 1914.

IZZET SAYS TURKS GOT LIGHTER TERMS THAN BULGARIANS

Amsterdam, Nov. 1.—Izzet Pasha, the Turkish Grand Vizier, is quoted by the Constantinople newspaper Tasviri Efkar as saying when the armistice negotiations were in progress: "The conditions of the armistice will be lighter than the demands imposed on Bulgaria, as no military occupation of Constantinople or of other Turkish territory has been demanded."

October Weather Record.—Victoria experienced a phenomenal amount of rain last month, when according to Superintendent Napier Denison, of the Meteorological Observatory, the total precipitation was 4.13 inches. This represents 1.52 inches above the average and offsets the dryness of September in which the rain was about an inch and a half below the average.

The total amount of bright sunshine was 115 hours and 42 minutes, eighteen hours below the usual quota for the month. The mean temperature was 51 degrees, the highest being 63 and the lowest 40. On the ground the lowest temperature recorded was 34.3; this being on Gonzales Heights, it would suggest that in the lower levels of the city frost was experienced during the month. There were an unusually large number of totally cloudy days during October.

The searching vessels yesterday afternoon picked up the body of Seaman Ebbes "foul of a life-jacket and sky-light."

Whether the body was actually foul of the skylight, as indicated by the wireless message, is not clear, the naval authorities being of the opinion that the message was not properly punctuated.

Dockyard officials this morning expressed the view that the salvaged skylight may not have been part of the Galiano's top hamper, in view of the fact that the engine-room skylight of the Galiano was iron stayed from the inside, and it ripped away from its fastenings would break in pieces rather than float off intact, as would be the case if the skylight was merely set in as on some vessels. The systematic search of the waters of Queen Charlotte Sound and along the southern shore of the Queen Charlotte Sound and along the southern shores of the Queen Charlotte Islands is being continued. The tug Daniel Kern has been added to the vessels engaged in the patrol.

Malaspina to Scene.

Capt. Martin, B. N. Superintendent of the Esquimalt Dockyard, stated this morning that just as soon as she can be got ready for sea the naval patrol steamer Malaspina, sister ship to the lost vessel, will be dispatched from Esquimalt for the scene of the disaster.

Lieut. (Capt.) Holmes Newcombe, Commander of the Malaspina, will be under orders to conduct a close search of the waters off Cape St. James, with the object of finding some trace of the missing craft.

The whaling tender Gray, of the Consolidated Whaling Corporation, crossed the Queen Charlotte Sound several miles to the west of the Galiano on the night of the disaster and reported sighting lights believed to be from the naval craft. The Gray was hoisted in the gale, and those aboard saw wooden gratings floating on the storm-tossed waters.

As these gratings were sighted well offshore, it would indicate that the Galiano foundered in deep water. Such equipment as this would easily float off, as the vessel was engulfed. Experienced mariners with a wide knowledge of those waters are almost convinced that the Galiano was overrun by one of the tremendous seas which flooded her below, and engulfed her as she lost steege way.

The naval department here received the following message from the whaling tender Gray at 3.47 p. m. yesterday:

"Whalers went out to positions I gave this morning and met the G. E. Foster, a trawler, which accompanied them and picked up one dead body foul of a life jacket. Soon after picked up engine-room skylight which, without a doubt, is the Galiano's. No more wreckage in sight. Weather thick and dry."

A later message received from the Ikeda wireless station at 5 o'clock read: "Gray advises clothing on body picked up is marked W. H. Ebbes, a sailor."

A crew of the regular members of the crew of the Galiano were stricken with influenza prior to the departure of the vessel from Esquimalt. The fact that they fell victims to the epidemic undoubtedly saved their lives.

The last trip of the Galiano was the first that Steward Salorne had missed during the four years he has been a member of the ship's complement. He considers himself very fortunate that he was taken sick at this time.

Chief Officer Ernest Alcock was also on the sick list and his place was taken by J. Gilbert, of H. M. C. S. Rainbow. Other members of the crew forced to leave the ship through contracting the "flu" were: Second Engineer Stewart, Quartermaster Fiddler, Quartermaster Stafford, Chief Cook Daveport and Stokers Thompson and Casey.

The men placed in the sick berth ashore were replaced by men from the Malaspina, a sister ship, and others from the Naval Dockyard.

The Nordheimer Piano

A Fitting Complement to the Finest Home

THE owner of a beautiful house feels that no piano of lesser merit than the Nordheimer will do.

The Nordheimer is the outstanding success among Canadian instruments.

The first Nordheimer Piano expressed an ideal—it was the leading piano of its day, and all Nordheimer instruments have been the satisfactory outgrowth of the high aims of the master maker who founded the House of Nordheimer in 1840.

While in the higher-priced class, its cost is not so much greater as to place it beyond the reach of the average family—especially when one considers the reasonable terms of payment that we provide for.

To make the purchase of a Nordheimer Piano easy, we will accept a moderate payment down, the balance to be paid monthly. Old instruments taken in exchange are allowed for at liberal valuation.

RUMOR GOVERNMENT TO BAR PRO HOCKEY

But Ottawa Says Matter Has Not Been Brought to Notice

Toronto, Nov. 1.—It has been intimated here for the past few days that the Federal Government contemplates putting a ban on professional hockey for the coming season, says The Globe today. Complaints have reached Ottawa to the effect that some of the well-known pro players are being excluded when drafts of their military units are being sent overseas. Unless these complaints are disposed through official channels they will not be dealt with by the authorities at the Capital. Last night in Ottawa the Department of Justice, which would receive and administer such complaints, issued a statement that nothing of the kind had been brought to its notice.

The Globe made searching inquiries, but could obtain no information.

ATHLETICS HAVE RECORD OF MEN IN THE LINE

Chicago, Nov. 1.—With twenty men in active service, Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, claims that his team has more men fighting on or across the seas than any other American League club. As for men in uniform, he still admits that the Detroit aggregation has the record with four more men in Uncle Sam's olive drab or navy blue than even the Philadelphia team can boast.

A full score of players left the Mack team during the year to enter active service either in the army or navy, and ten of them are "over there," according to authentic advice received by the Athletic manager. This beats by one fighter the Cleveland team's record of nine players overseas, but falls four men behind Detroit's roster of players who are in the big doings or ready to get into them.

One name was found to be omitted from the Indian roster, that of Alvin Karpis, who is a Cleveland contributor to nineteen players. The report also was received that Lieut. Herbert, formerly of the Indians, who went over in the Aviation Corps, has been slightly wounded and is in a London hospital.

The Mackmen who have been sent across to fight the Hun are: Walter Anderson, Ray Bates, Eugene Bailey, Carmen Hill, Patrick Hickey, Elmer Meyers, Murphy, Winifred Noyes, C. R. Taylor and Clarence (Tilly) Walker. The other ten who have not gone over but may be on the way are: George Burne, James Dugan, James Dykes, Martin Kopp, Geary, Russell (Jingo), Johnston, David Keefe, Harry Seibold, Lawton Witt and Maurice Shannon. Cleveland's nineteen soldiers include three lieutenants, Dickerson, Desjardien and Herbert; one sergeant, Lambert; one corporal, Harris; three men studying for army commissions, Gould, Klepper and Morton; one candidate for a commission in naval aviation, Tris Speaker, and Privates Billings, Chapman, Deberry, Guisto, Lunte, Pett, Smith, Tolkelson, Wambagans.

JOCKEY LEFT LARGE ESTATE.

New York, Nov. 1.—An estate of approximately $500,000 was left by the late Richard C. Doggett, one-time jockey, who died on October 10, according to the application of his wife for letters of administration filed in the Surrogate Court in Brooklyn. Doggett, who lived at 1800 Ocean Parkway, Brooklyn, had personal property valued at about $350,000 and realty worth approximately $150,000, it was stated. The heirs are his widow and four children—Esther A. Doggett, Mrs. Grace C. Cadigan, Richard C. Doggett, Jr., and Donald M. Doggett.

DEMPSEY MAY HAVE TO DON SAILORS' UNIFORM

Job as a Riveter is Not Approved by the Draft Board

Great Lakes naval training station is after Jack Dempsey as a sailor riveter. Under the impression that Dempsey was originally registered in San Francisco, Lieut. John F. Kennedy wired a California draft board asking for a release for the heavyweight contender.

San Francisco cannot grant that release, as Dempsey did not register from that city. But if the release is forthcoming, the Great Lakes authorities will put it up to Dempsey to get into a uniform.

The message from Lieutenant Kennedy to the San Francisco draft board reads as follows: "I understand Jack Dempsey is riveting in a shipyard on the Atlantic coast. If you will grant his release and wire it to us, we can give him a riveting job in the navy here as an enlisted man with the colors and set for a private concern. I trust you will favor us by granting the release. Dempsey knows nothing of this. As his picture shows him riveting in a shipyard, I would announce that here is a chance to drive rivets as a sailor in Uncle Sam's shipyard."

SOLDIERS' AMATEUR STANDING. New York, Nov. 1.—Several important proposed amendments to the constitution of the Amateur Athletic Union, to be considered at the coming annual meeting of that organization has been forwarded to all the units of the Union. The principal ones have to do with the reinstatement of soldier athletes, who, previous to, or since entering service, have violated the rules of amateurism.

WILL GIVE GOLF MEDALS. New York, Nov. 1.—John D. Rockefeller has donated 1,200 "Victory medals" to the United States Golf Association to be competed for by players throughout the country during the 176,500,000 drive of the united war work committee. November 11-18. Each medal has on it a likeness of Marshal Koch, a golf enthusiast.

ONE OF GIANTS KILLED. Eddie Grant, third baseman for the New York Giants and other major league clubs, who was recently killed in action. He went to the front as lieutenant in an American unit over a year ago.

WRESTLING CHAMPION GIVES LIFE ON FIELD

Vancouver, Oct. 31.—After two and a half years' service overseas, Sergt. Frank J. Hully, who left here in July, 1915, with the first artillery draft to leave Vancouver, has been killed in action.

Sergt. Hully was until he left for overseas, a splendid athlete, holding the amateur wrestling championship of the Pacific Coast and being noted in other branches of athletics as well. In the army he was known as a splendid soldier and a man who could be relied upon under any circumstances. His gallantry at all times and his bravery under fire are testified to by the fact that after the famous Passchendaele "show" he was awarded the Belgian Croix de Guerre by King Albert of Belgium, who personally called the Vancouver sergeant out on parade and pinned the decoration on his tunic, with words of gratitude and appreciation that only the noble Belgian monarch can utter.

Secretary Perdue, of the Great War Veterans' Association, who soldiered with Sergt. Hully and therefore knew him as a comrade, pays a tribute to his conduct in the field and to him personally as a soldier and a man. Sergt. Hully was employed by the David Spencer company in this city and was well known in Vancouver.

AUTO RACER TUMBLED FROM SKIES IN FIGHT

Battle Creek, Mich., Nov. 1.—Bob Moore, an American automobile racing driver, is one of the few men who have been tumbled from the skies in combat with German aviators and have lived to tell "how it felt."

Moore, who is recuperating here, was reported killed on the western front. He was "shot down in flames" and in his fall broke four ribs, punctured his lungs, broke his right hip and so injured one eye that the sight likely will be impaired. He spent some months in a hospital in Paris.

Moore was a member of the French escadrille. He went to France in 1914 as an automobile driver, but found the work on the ground too slow and took to the more exciting work in the air. He had a record of 1,000 flying hours when he fell. Moore expects to be assigned for instruction duty in this country, probably in aviation work.

POPULAR FOUR-ROUNDER DIED FROM INFLUENZA

Seattle, Nov. 1.—Charlie Bell, well-known up and down the coast as a former featherweight and newspaper artist, died in San Francisco of influenza several days ago, it was learned yesterday.

Bell was one of the best men in the four-round game a few years back, meeting the leading featherweights when at his best. He was employed on The Post-Intelligencer for over a year, during which time he often boxed at local gymnasiums, but never entered the ring. Bell fought under the name of Frankie Rogers.

MEEHAN WILLING TO BOX BURNS IN VANCOUVER

Vancouver, Nov. 1.—Willie Meehan, "California phat boy," is willing to come to Vancouver and engage Tommy Burns, former world's heavyweight champion, in a four or six-round bout. Recently a wire was dispatched from here to the San Francisco Bulletin offering Meehan a match in Vancouver and Willie informed the California press that he would be tickled to death to accept the engagement—for $4,000. Since then Willie has been notified to return to his naval duties at San Diego and it is hardly likely that he will be able to make a trip north, according to the San Francisco press. Burns wants to stage a big patriotic show for the 1st Depot Battalion, the receipts to be turned over to the regimental fund and if Meehan will be reasonable and come along here, Burns, with the consent of his officer commanding, will play a return engagement in the south. The former champion is now waiting to hear from the California heavyweight.

HOCKEY ARENA TO BE OPENED.

Vancouver, Nov. 1.—Vancouver skating enthusiasts who are waiting for a chance to limber up on the steel blades will be interested in the announcement that the Arena will be opened just as soon as the quarantine regulations are lifted. The amateur hockeyists are also marking time before completing their organization. The Commercial and City Intermediate Hockey Leagues are ready to go ahead with their plans as soon as the quarantine is lifted. The clubs are lining up their players and expect to get away to a good start this season.

BAYONET WORK TOO HEAVY.

Chicago, Nov. 1.—Jimmy Barry, former world heavyweight champion of the bantam, is back from Camp Gordon, Ga., where he went for training as an army boxing instructor. Barry said today that the boxing end of his duties was comparatively easy, but he was not strong enough to stand the bayonet drill necessary to fit himself as an instructor. Barry is forty-eight years old.

Your "exact" figure

It would be folly to try and fit your figure with a Type A Suit if you were tall and weighed over 170. It would be ludicrous to attempt to fit a Semi-ready Type B Suit on a man who is short and stout.

There are Seven physique Types—seven distinct and separate designs; we have added an eighth, called a "stub" figure.

The purpose is to fit all men in Semi-ready Tailored Clothes—to give a fit as perfect as can be made to measure after a try-on by the best custom-tailor.

TO REGULATE BOXING. New York, Nov. 1.—According to reports floating across the Hudson, several drastic changes in the supervision of boxing in New Jersey under the Hurley Law will be presented to the New Jersey Legislature when it convenes in Trenton in January. J. Langan, counsel to the State Athletic Commission, is busy on a revision of the rules that will eliminate much of the unfavorable circumstances, which have followed the sport since its installation under the state law.

WHAT HE WAS GETTING. Thomas Atkins was fractious. His medicine was nasty, and he refused to take it. Two or three V. A. D.'s stood round him and urged him to be good. "Come," said one, "drink this and you'll get well." "And rosy, too!" chimed in a second. Atkins brightened. He wasn't particularly keen on getting well, but to get rosy was quite another matter. "Which of you is Rosy?" he asked, surveying the group. — Pearson's Weekly.

RAIN AND FLU PUT DAMPER ON SPORTS

No League Football Fixtures; Soldiers at Willows Have Field Meet

With the influenza epidemic causing many of the players to be out of action in all branches of sport, there are very few attractions on in the city for Saturday. As previously announced, all league soccer games are off, and there is no rugby fixture for tomorrow. The Foundation Company, however, have called for a practice of their players to make the selection for the fifteen to represent them in the competition. The Fragments, always keen on a busy season, have arranged a fixture with the Imperial Munitions Board at Oak Bay at 2 p.m.

Sports at Willows. There will also be a general sports programme at the Willows. The soldiers in training for the Siberian Expedition who were quarantined are passing the hours by arranging sports and have already staged some good boxing. Two soccer games will take place at the camp tomorrow afternoon, the 259th Company playing the Machine Gun, and another eleven from the 259th meets the 260th Company.

Hunting Affected. The week-end hunters were watching the rain anxiously Friday, and hoping for an improvement before the end of the day. With the quail and pheasant shooting opening with promising accounts of the supply of birds, they were disappointed that the weather meant that a thorough drenching look and part of the price to be paid for the day's sport. The quail are also keeping closely to the densest cover they can find on account of the downpour.

Intermediate Rugby.

Although there is no senior game a start will be made in the Intermediate Rugby League with a game at Royal Athletic Park.

LEAGUE RUGBY GAME SET FOR SATURDAY

First Fixture in Intermediate Competition at Royal Athletic Park

The competition in the Intermediate Rugby League opens at the Royal Athletic Park on Saturday afternoon when the Royal Naval College Club is down to meet the Victoria and Island Athletic Association. The Island club is putting two teams in the league this season and has already made its debut in the senior competition. The Navy men are keen on the rugby game and it is anticipated will be able to put up a good fight. The game is scheduled to commence at 2.45, and W. H. Spaulding will referee. The Victoria and Island team is as follows: Lineham; Matson, Grubb, Webster and Streeter; Dresser and Lennie; Kennedy, Bayle, Devoreux, Cruickshanks, Campbell, Wheatley, Harvey and Blythe, Reserve, Bainbridge.

LESTER PATRICK BUYS BONDS AT THE DUGOUT

Among the many visitors to the Returned Soldiers' Dugout to purchase Victory Bonds this morning was Lester Patrick, who was the second man to purchase a bond and take with him a number of tickets for his chance on the beautifully engraved sword taken from an officer killed on the Somme. The ice hockey star with the sportsman's characteristic belief in lucky numbers asked if he could be given number eleven ticket which was shown him on the table. "Seven-eleven, eleven," said the bondseller. "Here's your ticket, the sword would be really useful when you are playing hockey, if you are the lucky drawer."

PROVINCE SETS ITS RECORD FOR LIQUOR SALES IN OCTOBER

Turnover for Month is Approximately $45,000; Five Times Over Normal

CONSERVATION IS STILL REQUIRED, SAYS FINDLAY

For the first time since it went into the liquor business on its own account, the Government of British Columbia, particularly the Department of the Attorney-General and the Prohibition Commissioner, is able to lay claim to a real month's business, such as would make the old-time inn-keeper stand at the door of his hotel and smile the smile of contentment on the world in general. The October turnover at the two stores approximated $45,000. This is five times the business of a normal month, and all on account of the temporary sojourn of influenza. Quite naturally Vancouver, with the greater population, leads with a month's business approaching $18,000, and Victoria makes up the rest.

Plenty of Work.

During the two weeks of the big demand the staff at the Vendor's store in Vancouver has been augmented by two additional clerks, as well as the services of the Prohibition Commissioner himself, while on numerous occasions it was found necessary for the whole force to remain on duty until the small hours of the morning. Additional working hours are largely taken up by the shipment of liquor to druggists in all parts of the province, needing, of course, expert packing and handling. In spite of the tremendous business, however, commented Commissioner Findlay this morning, no stocks allocated to druggists have been allowed to exceed the statutory amount.

Under the British Columbia Act, it will be recalled, the Commissioner is required to set the amount the hospitals may carry at any one time. And in this connection Mr. Findlay states that he has used a more liberal hand than usual, by reason of advice from fully qualified physicians, upon whom has devolved abnormal duties during the recent days. Temporary hospitals have likewise been taken into consideration and the requirements of the medical profession in connection therewith duly catered to within the provisions of the Act.

Buys Small Stocks.

Asked as to whether the present available stocks would be likely to meet the demands of the next few weeks, Mr. Findlay declared that a great deal depended upon the medical men who were giving him every possible assistance by dispensing just sufficient of the banned beverage to meet the immediate needs of their patients. The Commissioner stated that he had been able to negotiate advantageous purchases of liquor in Canada during the past two days, and it is hoped that a consignment will leave the east for this province during the next week or ten days. The quantities, however, are not large and he again urges conservation by the privileged professions.

No Chance!

As mentioned in these columns yesterday the situation in this Province is not without the comic side and, apart from the various pathetic appeals from some who look back upon the days before the ban with fond recollection, there are real alarms in some quarters. For instance, from Nelson this morning there arrived at the office of the Prohibition Commissioner a request to know whether it was true, and if it were upon whose authority decision was reached that a carload of alcoholic liquor had been sent to that city to be disposed of by the Chief of the Provincial Police. Since the demand for information came from a political organization it was met that all fears should be promptly allayed, and the writer informed that a carload of alcoholic liquor at large anywhere in the Province of British Columbia at the present time would be subjected to a vigorous offensive. By this time it will be known in Nelson that the rumor is unfounded.

Commissioner Findlay left the city on this afternoon's boat for Vancouver to complete arrangements for the more convenient handling of the Government's liquor business in that city.

LEGISLATURE MEETS EARLY IN NEW YEAR

Premier Asks All Delegations to Make Presentations at Earliest

According to present tentative arrangement and the desire of Premier Oliver and the other members of his Cabinet, the Legislature will be called together for the 1918 session as near as possible to the middle of January. While no definite date can be announced, Mr. Oliver stated this morning that it would be advisable for all persons and public bodies in the Province who may be desirous of making presentations to the Government involving legislation, to make them at the earliest possible moment so that such subject matter may be fully discussed in proper time.

It is the intention of the Cabinet to have as much as possible of the new legislation ready well before the House assembles, the course determined upon by the Premier towards the end of the 1917 session when Bills—quite unavoidably delayed—came to the Legislative Chamber thick and fast.

The Premier has a distinct aversion to rush legislation, and in order to avoid it he urges prompt presentation of all non-executive matters which may entail legislative enactment.

NO INCREASE NOTED IN INFLUENZA CASES

Situation Gradually Bettering Itself; Fifteen New Pa- tients To-day

The local situation, as regards the Spanish Influenza epidemic, still continues to assume an improved appearance, the number of cases reported to Dr. A. G. Price, Medical Health Officer, up to noon to-day totalling only fifteen. The total for the whole of yesterday was eighteen.

The outlook, therefore, is extremely hopeful, says Dr. Price. It looks as though the epidemic, which has prevailed in the city for the past month, is on the decrease. The fact that Victoria is so favorably situated, together with the excellent climatic conditions here, has proved a great advantage in fighting the malady.

The Fort Street emergency hospital now has over twenty patients, and attention is called to the fact that more nurses are needed at once. Dr. Price states that great praise is due to the nurses who have already volunteered their services for looking after influenza patients, but he will be glad of more assistance.

It has been estimated that probably fifty deaths in the city during the past month were due to Spanish Influenza. These figures are claimed to be much lower than any other city in Canada, or the United States in proportion to the population attacked by disease.

ISLAND RETURNS

Vancouver Island Rallyes in Victory Loan Campaign.

"I am well satisfied that the up-land centres are going the limit in the drive," said G. E. Dawson, on behalf of the Victory Loan Committee this morning. Few official returns have yet arrived at headquarters, but the following estimate, telephoned in for the various centres is believed to be correct by the local officials:

Shawinigan Lake $ 4,500
Cobble Hill 5,000
Duncan 68,500
Chemainus 15,300
Ladysmith 10,000
Cumberland 43,300

Assuming that these figures are correct, Cobble Hill, Shawinigan Lake and Cumberland have already reached half the sum necessary to secure an honor flag.

"KNOW YOUR ALLY!"

Many Applications for Wonderful Pamphlet: Where Copies May Be Obtained.

Many inquiries have been received at the office of The Times asking where copies of "Know Your Ally," the British propaganda pamphlet from which seven separate articles were reproduced in these columns recently, may be obtained.

The Minister of Education at the Parliament Buildings has been similarly besieged with inquiries for the same thing. As mentioned in The Times the booklet is a product of the British Ministry of Propaganda and is being distributed throughout the United States from its New York office.

This is the New York address: Lieut. Col. G. G. Woodward, 511 Fifth Avenue. The reason there are no copies in Canada is, of course, due to the fact that its compilation was undertaken solely for American consumption and to act as a "counter irritant" to the insidious and far-reaching German machinations intended to belittle and distort Britain's war effort.

ANSWERS COMPLAINTS OF HEALTH OFFICER

Statement Issued by Loan Of- ficials Concerning Climb of "Human Fly"

An answer to the statements of Dr. Price, City Health Officer, appearing in the press to-day, was issued by the publicity committee of the Victory Loan. The committee denies all responsibility for bringing "The Human Fly" to Victoria, and states that he came here under the auspices of the Dominion Executive. In addition, it is pointed out by R. F. Taylor, chairman of the Island Committee, the Loan Committee of this city has been extremely careful to obey the injunctions of the health authorities, and that other cities on the contrary, have not hesitated to hold demonstrations and parades.

The statement issued by E. J. Down, Chairman of the Publicity Committee, is as follows: "We regret that the arrangements made by the Dominion Executive of the Victory Loan, in sending the 'Human Fly' to Victoria, conflicted in any way with the desires and mandates of the City Health Officer. But we had nothing to do at this end in making these arrangements. The 'Human Fly' was sent out by the Dominion Executive with his programme mapped out, and all his dates arranged.

Paid Nothing.

"We did not," the statement continues, "pay a cent to the 'Human Fly.' We wish to point out that Vancouver, which is also under the influenza ban, staged a monster parade in connection with the climb of the 'Human Fly.'

while we refrained from making any such arrangement. In respect to the wishes of Dr. Price, we have cancelled many of our publicity features."

"We are doing more than the committees in almost any other city to obey the health regulations," remarked Mr. Taylor.

OBITUARY RECORD

Henry Wilson Armstrong died yesterday morning at Alberni, following an attack of Spanish influenza. He was thirty-four years of age, and a native son of Victoria, his father now residing at 134 Kingston Street. The remains arrived in the city last night, and are now at the B. C. Funeral Chapel pending funeral arrangements.

The remains of the late Stanley Mitchell Vincent, who died on October 20 as the result of influenza, will be shipped to-night to Vancouver, where interment will take place on Saturday afternoon.

The remains of the late Gerald Dudley Flint, who died at Prince Rupert of Spanish influenza, arrived in the city yesterday. The funeral will be held at 2 p. m. to-morrow from the B. C. Funeral Chapel, where Ven. Archdeacon Sweet will conduct a private service. Interment at Ross Bay.

Towns

With the American Army in France, Nov. 1.—The Germans now are removing the civil population in advance of the retreat of their armies from French soil. A document captured by American soldiers contains instructions for rounding up the male population capable of bearing arms, and all cattle. All division commanders are ordered hereafter to search each district systematically and to deliver under guard to the local commander all men between fourteen and sixty, together with all cattle. Concentration camps will be established near the headquarters towns for the civilians who are to be removed. The cattle will be taken to the nearest slaughterhouses. The German order also provides that all horses must be taken, and concludes: "The purpose in view can not be accomplished except by proceeding without the slightest consideration."

MAJ.-GEN. MEWBURN BACK IN OTTAWA

Intends to Have Militia Department's Work on This Coast Rushed

Ottawa, Nov. 1.—Major-General Mewburn, Minister of Militia, returned to the capital to-day from a trip extending to the Pacific Coast. The Minister was present at Vancouver at the embarkation of the first detachment of the Canadian Expeditionary Force to Siberia, which has now reached its destination safely.

The Minister visited all the military headquarters in the West, located at Victoria, Calgary and Winnipeg, and inquired into a large number of local matters affecting the Department. He devoted special attention to the general programme of hospitalization in the western provinces and brought back with him full information as to the requirements and the progress already made. The Minister intends to take vigorous action to have all the work mapped out rushed to completion at the earliest possible moment.

VICTORY RACE WITH VANCOUVER IS CLOSE

The Victory Loan race between Victoria and Vancouver is now attracting the attention of local canvassers and officials. It is stated in a press dispatch that up to noon to-day Vancouver had raised $4,952,780, but that includes the $1,000,000 invested by the city. It will be remembered that part of the conditions of the competition were that Vancouver, to win the prize, would have to raise twice as much within the city limits as was raised by Victoria and the adjoining municipalities. In addition, the subscription of the Provincial Government was to be counted to the credit of Victoria. It is thus obvious that the race is being pretty closely contested, and that neither city has been able to gain a lead as yet.

ALLIED ATTACK ON GERMANY FROM EAST

Surrender of Turkey Opens
Way, Says Rt. Hon. George
N. Barnes

London, Nov. 1.—An Allied attack on Germany from the east was foreshadowed by Rt. Hon. George Nicoll Barnes, a member of the War Cabinet, in a speech last evening at the American Officers' Club in London. The armistice with Turkey might have been signed earlier, Mr. Barnes said, "but we held the Turks on a string." He explained that the Allies were committed to a free Arab state with Aleppo as the capital, and there had been no hurry to let the Turks out of the war until Aleppo was captured. Mr. Barnes said that he understood British vessels already had started through the Dardanelles. He concluded: "There now is nothing to prevent the fleet from going into the Black Sea and up the Danube to Germany's back door, and if the Germans are going to defend their territory they must divide their remaining forces between the Western front and the back door, at which we shall soon be knocking."

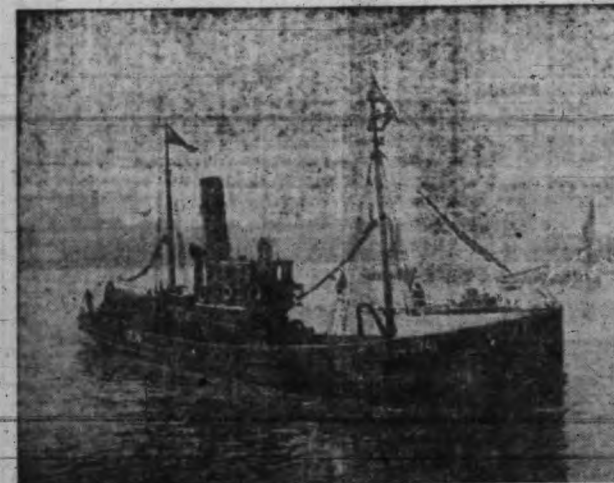

MORE STEEL CONTRACTS PLACED BY GOVERNMENT

Ottawa, Nov. 1.—Hon. C. C. Ballantyne, Minister of Marine, has entered into contracts for the construction of six additional steamships for the Government. The Wallace Shipbuilding Company, of Vancouver, will build two vessels of 5,100 tons capacity and one of 4,300 tons, while the Kingston Steamship Company of Kingston, will construct a vessel of 3,750 tons. In addition, contracts have been signed with the Port Arthur Steamship Company for two 3,400-ton vessels. This brings the total number of vessels contracted for up to thirty-one.

SPANISH "FLU"

Situation Throughout the Province Shows Little Change: No Signs of Abatement.

Very little change in the provincial situation regarding Spanish influenza is recorded at the Provincial Department of Public Health this morning. With the exception of North Saanich there have been no applications for the official ban. Reports from the Medical Health Officer at Kamloops indicate that conditions are serious at the interior city; otherwise, while there are no additional alarms, there is a lack of improvement noted.

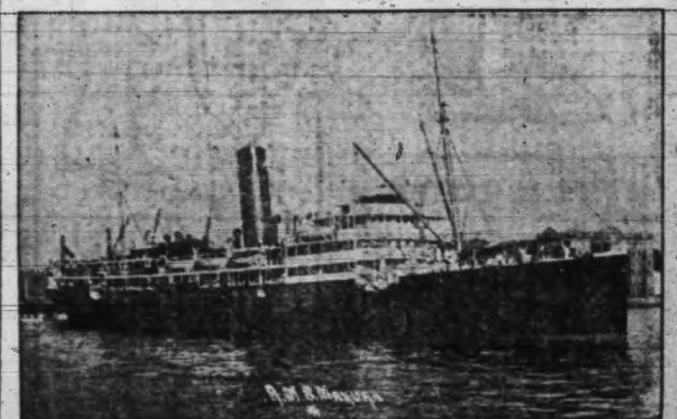

Two men about town were discussing a mutual acquaintance at an At Home.

"I cannot understand how he can drink so much tea!" remarked one. "He got away with fourteen saucers' full."

"No," said the first man, suavely. "He is afraid the spoon will get in his eye."

SALVAGE OF WRECK IS DECLARED HOPELESS

According to information received at the local offices of the British Columbia Salvage Company from the salvage steamer Tees, now standing by the wreck of the Princess Sophia at Vanderbil Reef, the after part of the submerged vessel has broken off and sunk in deep water. The message stated that the Sophia was lying close to the buoy on Vanderbil Reef with her foremast only showing. The vessel, or what is left of it, is apparently upright and resting on an even keel. The bottom has been swept in lines twenty feet apart, and it was found that there was nothing left of the ship from fifty feet aft of the foremast.

The salvage experts at the scene of the wreck are satisfied that the ship has broken in half, and that the stern section has dropped into deep water. At this point the reef shears off very sharply and salvage is considered hopeless.

In Exposed Position. It is contended that salvage work at Vanderbil Reef could only be carried on by small boats, owing to the exposed position of the wreck, and no anchorage in the immediate vicinity. The Tees is standing by and if the weather is at all favorable an attempt will be made to send divers down to recover valuables from the safe in the purser's office.

It is believed here that the Sophia carried a shipment of gold, in view of inquiries instituted by insurance companies, although a recent dispatch from Juneau stated no bullion was carried by the sunken ship.

Bottom Ripped Out. The vessel probably had the whole of her bottom ripped open as she was dragged across the reef during the height of the blizzard.

It is feared that further heavy weather will cause the remaining section of the ship to plunge into the canal.

The chart shows a depth of water ranging from 150 to 200 fathoms in the immediate vicinity of Vanderbil Reef.

EIGHTEENTH VESSEL LAUNCHED AT TACOMA BY FOUNDATION COMPANY

On Wednesday afternoon the Foundation Company launched its eighteenth ship from the Tacoma plant. The 2,200-ton auxiliary powered schooner was christened Justice by Mrs. Joseph McKay, of Seattle. The Tacoma contract called for the construction of twenty vessels to the order of the French Government. Several of these vessels have already been delivered.

GOVERNOR RIGGS REPORTS ON WRECK

Further Identifications Are Made by Captain Bell, R. N. W. M. P.

Vancouver, Oct. 31.—"No possible chance of releasing the S. S. Princess Alice before Saturday," was the word received at the C. P. R. in this city on Thursday from the company's agent at Juneau. The wire stated that the following identifications have been made of bodies from the Sophia: J. P. Pugh, U. G. Myers, E. M. Bell, Mrs. J. Beaton, John McLeod, Chas. Beadle, J. M. Lee, O. D. Pratt. The bodies of two men are still unidentified. The agent of the C. P. R. anticipates that identification will be made of these two men. As the body of Captain Locke has not been recovered, it is now thought that he went down in his boat, and unless the divers from the salvage steamer Tees are successful in entering the boat, it is doubtful if the body will ever be found. His friends state that they feel certain he stayed with the ship.

Governor's Report. Juneau, Oct. 31.—Governor Thomas Riggs returned from the scene of the wreck early this morning and made the following statement: "I have examined the log of the steamers Cedar and King & Winge, have inspected the logs of the lightkeepers on Sentinel Island and Eldred Rock and after a thorough investigation, I am confident that no blame for the catastrophe to the Princess Sophia can be attached to the lightkeepers, or to any of the commanders of the Cedar and King & Winge which were in the vicinity at the time of the disaster. Records of the lightkeepers show that, at 3:10 a. m. when the Sophia struck Vanderbil Reef, there was a strong northwesterly gale blowing, with a blinding snowstorm obscuring every landmark. While passing during the day of October 24 it might have been possible to transfer passengers to the Peterson or Estebeth, it seems probable that if such transfer had been attempted it would have been accompanied by loss of life. At the time the barometer was rising, indicating fair weather. The master of the Cedar and Superintendent Dillard, of the lighthouse service, on board the Cedar, state they would have acted as Captain Locke did under the circumstances. It seems impossible that the Sophia could have moved from the crane on the reef in which she rested, and until late in the afternoon of October 25 it did not seem to anyone that the vessel was in extreme danger."

The log of the wireless man on the steamer Cedar reads: "At 4:50 p. m. October 25, came S.O.S. call from the Princess Sophia, saying: 'We are foundering on reef. For God's sake come and save us.' The Cedar answered: 'Coming full speed, but cannot see on account of thick snow and heavy seas.'"

Batteries Too Weak. Communication was kept up until 5:20 p. m. when the Sophia's batteries were so weak that it was impossible to understand. The operator on the Cedar told him to quit talking except for what was absolutely necessary, so as to save batteries in order to direct the Cedar. Answer came: "All right, but for God's sake hurry. Water coming in the room." No more was heard from the Sophia. Quoting from the log of the Cedar: "Had to return to shelter from mountainous seas. At daylight, October 26, made way to the wreck through thick snowstorm."

Found Sophia had shifted entirely over the reef and nothing of the vessel was showing except upper masts. Immediately began to look for signs of life. Found raft on Shelter Island with "no bodies, but no life."

Governor Riggs will probably return to direct further search to-morrow. Capt. Bell, of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police at Whitehorse, arrived here last night and is identifying several bodies heretofore unknown. Funeral of Collector of Customs J. P. Pugh was held this afternoon. A number of others will be buried to-morrow. Many bodies will leave on the Princess Alice to-morrow.

Government Awaits Information. Ottawa, Oct. 31.—Alexander Johnston, Deputy Minister of Marine and Fisheries, stated to-night that the Department is awaiting full particulars as to the equipment, etc., of the steamer Princess Sophia, as well as of other particulars of the disaster in the Lynn Canal before deciding as to an inquiry. Owing to the circumstances that the disaster occurred in United States waters, considerable time may lapse before the Department is in full possession of information necessary to the reaching of a decision.

CAPTAIN PHILLIPS LEAVING MAKURA

Appointed Assistant Marine Superintendent for Union Line at Sydney, N. S. W.

Word was brought on the R. M. S. Makura to-day to the effect that Captain J. D. S. Phillips, her skipper, has received the appointment of assistant marine superintendent for the Union Steamship Company with headquarters at Sydney, New South Wales, Australia. He has been granted three months leave of absence before taking up his new position.

Captain Phillips is one of the best-known and most popular masters on the Canadian-Australasian run, and the news of his appointment will be received with pleasure at the recognition of his ability, tempered with the keenest regret at his departure from the Australasian service. A capable skipper he has captained many passenger liners, and has been in command of the Makura for some years past.

INVESTIGATING PORT FACILITIES ON COAST

T. Takahashi, Manager of Uchida Trading Co., Says May Establish Line

Vancouver, Nov. 1.—"It is my intention to make a one-year's study of the port of Vancouver and Seattle before making my final arrangements for the Vancouver-Seattle and Japan line of cargo steamers," said Tsunataro Takahashi, manager of the Uchida Trading Company, Ltd., agents for the Uchida S. S. Company, owners of the Taibu Maru, the big carrier bringing in a shipment of sugar to the sugar refinery in this city.

Mr. Takahashi arrived from Seattle on Thursday morning in company with C. E. Harvey, of the Waterhouse Company, who is chartering the Taibu Maru for her return trip to the Orient. The manager of the great shipping concern stated that his company, which is capitalized at $100,000,000, has twenty large boats in cargo-carrying work and many coasters to feed the trans-oceanic fleet. Many of these boats are now under charter to other companies, but no new charters are being entered into as the Uchida S. S. Company intends opening an American-oriental line of steamers and by next July when the majority of the present charters expire this company will be in a position to put on the ships to carry the business between the two continents.

"Before deciding to make Vancouver a terminal for this new line I must investigate all the costs of taking cargoes from the boats and putting them on, and I must see about everything in connection with the harbor," said Mr. Takahashi. This Japanese shipowner is making his headquarters in Seattle while staying in America, but he expects to make many visits to Vancouver during the course of study he is taking in local conditions.

NO MORE INDIAN RELICS

"I suppose you still find old arrowheads when you plow your fields?" "Not any more," replied Farmer Condoles. "We cleaned them all up long ago. Now we don't find anything but gold bull."

MAKURA DID NOT PROCEED TO SYDNEY

Turned Back From Auckland; Influenza Epidemic on Niagara is Reported

The Canadian Australasian liner Makura, Captain R. Crawford, berthed at the Outer Docks this morning, and after discharging passengers, proceeded to Vancouver. She had about 2,070 tons of cargo, chiefly frozen meat and general merchandise.

About twenty-five cases of grippé occurred on board, the steamer only going to Auckland on this occasion. There the Niagara, from this side, docked during her stay with a large number of influenza cases. Twenty-five patients had to be treated in isolation hospitals from the Niagara, the steamer having suffered a widespread epidemic southbound from British Columbia ports.

At Honolulu rigorous steps were taken to prevent infection, and no passengers were allowed ashore in the Hawaiian port.

En route here the Makura caught the tail end of the storm which engulfed the Galiano, in fact she picked up a wireless message with regard to the missing patrol boat from Ikeda. The passengers included a number of returning airmen. There were about forty first and sixty second-class passengers on board on this trip.

WIPED OUT

A FIGHT TO A FINISH.

By "Wing Adjutant."

Nine Fokker biplanes had been encountered in the morning. Out of these the patrol of British scouts shot down five; three had burst into flames, the planes had collapsed from another, and the last had spun down out of control. Now, the same evening the patrol was out again looking for the remnant of the formation which had been so badly cut up in the morning. The pilots were anxious to meet their foes once more, for they had fought gamely, especially the leader, and, though outnumbered, had carried on whilst any hope remained. It was almost as if the first round had been fought and the combatants had retired to get their second wind, mutually agreeing to meet later to finish off the combat.

Glancing above him the patrol leader saw the approach of the Huns. Four Fokkers approached flying in perfect style, waiting for a chance to attack. The leader noticed that the machine which led the Huns was the same as that which had fought so well in the morning. Without waiting for more, he pushed up the nose of his machine and rose to the attack. For a moment the two parties paused as though to let the affair be settled between their leaders, but when the first "Rat-tat-tat" of a machine gun burst on the evening air both parties rushed at each other, one side determined to wipe out the defeat of the morning, the other to complete their conquest. It was to be a fight to a finish.

The Fall of the Leader.

The British leader reserved his fire until he was within a few yards of his opponent. Though a straggling long-range fire burst about him, he carried straight on, steadily bearing down on the target. Then at last he pressed the trigger of his gun and a storm of lead broke upon the German. Quickly the Boche swung round in an S-turn, coming round on the tail of his foe, but before his shots could take effect, the British pilot, pulled his machine over in a loop, and as he flattened out caught the Hun fairly amidst the Fokker staggered and stalled; evidently the pilot was hit. Then the leader closed with his enemy and concentrated his fire upon him. A sheet of flame rushed from the petrol tank, the machine plunged abruptly downwards. Then the planes collapsed.

Many of the brave women who attend our wounded heroes in this war are women who have used Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription, or who recommend it. The hospital, with its work and long hours, imposes extreme hardship on a woman's strength. Every woman should make herself fit for every call at home or abroad. She should obtain a book called the "Medical Adviser," either at her nearest drug store or by sending 50 one-cent stamps to Dr. Pierce, Courtwright St., Bridgeburg, Ont., for this book which tells about Nursing, Bandaging, Anatomy, Physiology, Marriage.

Thousands of women in Canada have overcome their sufferings and have been cured of woman's ills, by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Sold by druggists in liquid or tablets. Send Dr. V. M. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., 10c for trial pkg.

ed, and, still blazing, the remains crashed to earth. Meanwhile the other machines had not been idle. As the leader turned to the help of his companions he saw a second Fokker go down in flames. Then an incident occurred which surprised him. As the burning scout fell, the pilot jumped overboard. A parachute unfolded and the Hun sailed safely to earth. This was the first time the leader had seen parachutes used in this war, and possibly that explains the fact that he was caught unawares, being aroused from his surprised gaze by a few bullets dangerously close to his petrol tank. He swung round, but even as he prepared to fire at his aggressor one of the patrol rushed in and a third Hun fell in flames.

One Boche remained. Though he had witnessed the fate of his comrades he did not turn and flee. He rushed madly at the bunch of his foes. In that last mad run he fired wildly at everything which crossed his path, scoring hits on two of the British machines. Then the fire of three guns caught him at once. The interplane struts broke into splinters, the planes collapsed, and, whirling madly, the Fokker fell to join its companions below.

The patrol was wiped out.

The Fledgling of Icarus

II.—LIONS IN THE WAY.

From The London Chronicle.

From his military camp, Icarus in search of wing strides forth as a soldier. He encounters a schoolmaster. It is amusing to see him in the classroom. This dreamful youth, hungering for wings, has no sooner caught the physical habit of the soldier than he is put to school and becomes presently as dazed and student-like as instruction can make him. You see him seated on a form in a lecture-room, gazing up with troubled eyes and rugged brow at an entirely self-satisfied non-commissioned officer who delivers his memorized instruction in the fashion of the barrack-square. And the instruction is of a highly technical character, and the instructor seems to feel an intense pride in shouting out terrifically long words, and poor Icarus, crouching on his schoolboy's bench, appears to think that the nearer you get to flying the less you like it.

But while he is learning the theory of flight, and something about engineering, and how an aeroplane is made, and how to send wireless messages, and how to take photographs, and how to spot the enemy on a map, his spirits are kept up by vigorous games and occasional drills, while the tone of his environment is so good that he soon loses any touch of frightfulness from his first course. Nevertheless, it is impossible not to feel sympathy for this poor youth whose brain is being attacked from all sides by technical experts, and who is supposed to learn in a few weeks matters which might well demand many months.

The Gunner Explains.

You might think that after having graduated in theory his next stage would be the joy of practical flight. But poor Icarus, having got past the doctor, the soldier, and the schoolmaster, now encounters another lion in his path. This time it is a gunner. The gunner explains to him that an aeroplane is chiefly important because it carries a gun, and makes him feel that an airman is little more than a finger at the trigger of that gun. Happily for Icarus, at this point in his journey he comes into the society of a body of officers the like of which I must suppose are not easily to be found elsewhere. These officers love guns with a boy's absorption in toys and a man's devotion to the one woman. For them a gun is the supreme creation of the human mind, and not a dead creation, but a most sensitive and living creation, a thing to be petted and soothed and persuaded and loved. Here, with the artists in guns to inspire him, Icarus catches the spirit of the fighting pilot. True, he has never climbed into the cockpit of a scout and sailed away into the clouds over the enemy's lines; but here in the beautiful garden of a Victorian country house he learns to handle a gun—the gun of a fighting machine; the gun which he will, one day sail away with high into the clouds, the gun with which he will "strafe the Boche," the gun which will save his life a hundred times if he loves it and knows it and makes it a part of himself.

Towards Perfection.

Fortunate is Icarus at this stage of his journey towards wings in coming under a captain of gunnery who is a genius, and who knows that the life of the pilot lies in his gun. Though he loves a gun, yet no gun so far conceived by the brain of the engineer satisfies this genius of gunnery, who is for ever straining at the powers of his mind towards the perfect and not impossible gun. It will come, he knows; perhaps not in his time, but certainly it will come; and in the meantime every single part of the gun which Icarus takes into the clouds must be gone over by expert mechanics and made so smooth and flawless that there may be certain death in front of it and almost certain life behind it.

Icarus learns how to use the ring and the bead in sighting his gun, how to make allowance for all possible deflection, and how to get out of the gun all it has to give him. I may not tell of the many ingenious devices by which this teaching is made plain to him, but you may guess at them when I say that never have I seen instruction made so picturesque, so dramatic, so amusing.

Icarus is now a serious person. He begins to realize that a pilot is something much more than a bird. His brain is singing with mathematics, aerodynamics, engineering, gunnery, photography, wireless, carpentry, topography, and I know not what else. This knowledge has been pumped into him from all sides, and at a speed which would horrify the just tutor, and the brain of poor Icarus must be like a sponge as he staggers away from this school of gunnery to . . .

The Aerodrome.

Yes, at last he reaches an aerodrome, a real aerodrome, with huge sheds filled with scores of machines, with crack pilots walking about on the ground, and other crack pilots tumbling about in the sky, and with everywhere the noise of engines mingling with the crackle of machine-guns, and a feeling in the air he breathes that to fly is the one business of a man and the only thing in life thoroughly and incontrovertibly worth while.

Imagine the feeling of Icarus when he climbs into the seat of a machine, and one of these crack pilots takes him, up above the earth—away from

Who is it in France you are most interested in—a husband, a brother, a son, a friend you long to see again?

Picture this boy, trudging, tired and sleepy, back from the trenches.

He sees posted up at an army hut a notice of the overwhelming success of the Victory Loan 1918.

He sees the notice posted that more Canadians bought Victory Bonds than in any previous loan, that money to carry on the fight is assured.

He sees that his self-sacrifice, his courage and self-denial are appreciated, that mighty battalions of Canadian money are marching to reinforce him.

Can't you see his tired face brighten?

Can't you see him hitch his pack and shift his gun with renewed resolve?

What a mental bracer this bulletin will be to the Army of Brave Souls who fight that we may be free?

If Canada-at-home will keep constantly before it the picture of Canada-in-France, then every previous record of investment in Canada will be shattered by the message we will send to our army when the Victory Loan 1918 is closed.

They had just renewed their acquaintance after five years.

"Upon my word, Miss Haggerty," he said, frankly, "you have changed so much I would hardly have known you."

"For the better or the worse?" she asked, with an arch look.

"Ah, my dear girl, you could only change for the better!"

Then he wondered why she turned away from him.

The bus conductor had told the passenger that she would have to get out, because the bus was going in the opposite direction to that which she desired.

"But it's got 'Piccadilly' written on it," she protested.

"Yes, but it's going away from Piccadilly. The bus has got 'Nestlé's Milk' on it, too, but we're not going to Switzerland."

INFLUENZA BAN IN ALASKA CAUSES TROUBLE

Juneau, Oct. 31.—In a statement issued last night Thomas Riggs, Jr., Governor of Alaska, absolutely denied the report that George Sprague, second officer of the steamer City of Seattle, was denied admission to a hospital here when he was taken ill with influenza on a recent trip north. Sprague returned to Seattle, where he died. The statement said Sprague, while here, was offered hospital treatment. He declined the offer and said he wanted to return to Seattle. The captain and doctor of the City of Seattle thought Sprague could make the trip back, the statement said, so the hospital was refused.

Seattle, Oct. 31.—Officers of all of the Seattle steamship companies operating to Alaskan ports have decided to make a complete report of the action of Governor Riggs to Washington, D. C., and have notified him that all steamship service to Alaska will be discontinued unless the influenza ban is lifted at every port in the North.

CRITICAL MOMENT IS YET TO COME

So Says British High Commissioner in United States Regarding War

New York, Nov. 1.—A warning that the "critical moment" in the war is yet to come was given here last night by Sir Henry Babington Smith, Acting British High Commissioner to the United States, at a banquet which closed the convention of the American Manufacturers' Export Association, called to discuss after-the-war problems.

"Victory is in our grasp," the Commissioner said. "Central Europe is crumbling, but the word I should like to speak is not a word of exultation, but of warning."

Economic Association.
Concerning peace problems, Sir Henry said that one of the first steps should be the perfecting of an "economic association" of the twenty-four Allied nations, which in effect already is in existence, and an agreement on economic principles to be applied in the relations of such an association.

Other speakers included William C. Redfield, United States Secretary of Commerce; Eduard de Bille, of the French High Commission to the United States; and Frank A. Vanderlip, President of the National City Bank of New York.

Mr. Vanderlip concluded with "a warning of the danger of political controversy at this time of crisis."

BELIEVE END OF WAR NOW IS NEAR

Prussianized Germany at Last Isolated, Says Observers in London

London, Nov. 1.—The complete isolation of Germany as a result of the desertion and surrender of her allies is commented upon by the newspapers here as the outstanding feature of the latest developments in the "colossal drama of victory."

The effect of this isolation upon her armies, coupled with the desperate internal conditions in Germany, is regarded almost everywhere as bringing the end of the war very near, although in some quarters a warning is raised that the German army and navy are still in existence, and, in the hands of desperate men, are formidable and dangerous.

Surrender.
The general tone of the comments, however, indicates a belief that the Germans sooner or later must accept surrender on the Allies' terms. There is considerable speculation as to the extent Germany will be able to oppose the carrying out of the terms Turkey has accepted. It is unknown whether German garrisons still hold the Dardanelles and other defences of Constantinople, while resistance by the Germanized Russian Black Sea fleet is regarded as a serious possibility. Even if the forts are evacuated passage of the straits may not, it is suggested, be without danger, as it is assumed they are still mined and in any event must be cleared before ships can pass through.

Cleaving of Mine-Fields.
The Express, however, learns that the location of all mines is known to the Turks, and that paper believes that when they undertook to open the straits the Turks also agreed to help the British to clear the mine-fields.

The immense possibilities following the Turkish collapse are discussed by all the newspapers, among the hopeful auguries being the rescue of Roumania, and the end of Bolshevik tyranny in Russia.

NATIONAL ASSEMBLY AT VIENNA IS ESTABLISHING REPUBLICAN CONSTITUTION

Copenhagen, Nov. 1.—A dispatch from Vienna printed in the Tageblatt, of Berlin, says:

"The National Assembly met at 3 o'clock yesterday. A vast crowd had gathered before the Diet Building and frantically cheered the red flag, which was displayed by laborers from the suburbs of Vienna.

"Socialist members of the Diet were cheered when they addressed the crowd in favor of a republic.

"Mayor Weisskirchner tried vainly to get a hearing, but he was greeted with hisses.

"Meanwhile the National Assembly had accepted a constitution in which no place was left for the crown. The National Assembly has the legislative power, while the State Council and the State Government have the executive power. It was planned to name a new Government Wednesday night."

Amsterdam, Nov. 1.—Germany, according to an announcement made in the Weser Gazette, has recognized the Prague General National Council, and has ordered Count Czernin to make the necessary declaration in behalf of the Berlin Government.

London, Nov. 1.—The local attack in Flanders yesterday made by the British and French between the Scheldt and the Lys Rivers proved most successful. The front of the attack was about twelve miles and the German positions were penetrated to a depth of between three and four miles.

London, Nov. 1.6.10 p.m.—The Austrian fleet at Pola, the naval base on the Adriatic Sea, has surrendered to the Southern Slavic Council, according to a dispatch received by the Central News Agency.

Basel, Nov. 1.—The Imperial couple are still in Vienna, it is declared. An Imperial ordinance authorizes all officers in the country to place themselves in the service of the armies constituted by the newly-formed Governments, and to permit the soldiers under their command to serve likewise.

Amsterdam, Nov. 1.—Two trains carrying food to Germany have been seized by Czech troops. All trains carrying food to Vienna and to Germany also have been held up.

The Weser Gazette says that all passenger and merchandise traffic between Austria and Germany stopped on Wednesday.

NEW ATTACK MADE EAST OF ATTIGNY

London, Nov. 1.—5 p. m.—French and American forces attacked the German positions east of Attigny this morning on a wide front.

With the British Forces in Belgium, Nov. 1.—(Reuters)—As the result of the operations of General Plumer's army in conjunction with the Belgian forces there has been a great extension of the Allied front northward along the Scheldt River. The obstinately defended town of Tournai is beginning to figure as the apex of a large salient.

With the British Forces in Flanders, Nov. 1.—British forces in their attack in the Belgian region pushed the Germans back of the Scheldt River along a front of perhaps five miles above Aelhem.

TURKS SURRENDER ALL WAR VESSELS

That is One of Provisions of Armistice Allies Granted

London, Nov. 1.—(Associated Press).—The terms of the armistice granted by the Allies to Turkey follow: First—The opening of the Dardanelles to the Bosphorus and access to the Black Sea. Allied occupation of the Dardanelles and Bosphorus forts. (Section missing.)

Sixth—The surrender of all war vessels in Turkish waters or waters occupied by Turkey. These ships will be interned in such Turkish port or ports as may be directed, except such small vessels as are required for police and similar purposes in Turkish territorial waters.

COUNCIL OF ALLIES SITS AT VERSAILLES

Statesmen, Generals and Admirals at the Session Held To-day

Versailles, Nov. 1.—To-day's session of the Supreme War Council of the Allies was held in the large chamber on the main floor of the Trianon Palace.

A stenographer at a desk in a corner takes notes of the official proceedings. The uniforms of the generals and admirals participating give a touch of color to the scene, but the prevailing tone is one of a civilian gathering.

The deliberations proceeded with complete privacy to-day. Guards along the Boulevard of the Queen keep the crowds from approaching the iron gate leading to the palace.

DIAZ IS READY TO TELL ALLIES' TERMS

Austrians About to Learn What Conditions They Must Meet

Rome, Nov. 1.—It is understood that the terms of the Allied nations for an armistice with Austria-Hungary now are in the hands of General Diaz, the Italian Commander-in-Chief.

Rome, Nov. 1.—The number of prisoners taken by the Allied forces in their drive against the Austro-Hungarians in Northern Italy is still increasing. More than 700 guns have been captured. Immense booty has been taken.

Rome, Nov. 1.—Italian cavalry divisions have destroyed the enemy resistance on the Livenza River. They have re-established crossings over the stream and are marching toward the River Tagliamento.

Paris, Nov. 1.—The text of the Austro-Hungarian communication to the Italian supreme command asking immediate suspension of hostilities reads:

"If hostilities are suspended the evacuation of the Venetian plains, now in a good state of cultivation, would be accomplished without any damage whatever to the country. For this reason the Italian supreme command is asked to take the necessary steps with a view to the immediate suspension of hostilities."

Washington, Nov. 1.—Millions of dollars worth of booty has been captured by the Italians from the fast-retreating Austrian troops, said an official dispatch to-night from Rome. The number of prisoners is increasing rapidly and continuously, while more than 700 captured guns have been counted.

After annihilating the resistance of the Austrians at the Livenza, Italian cavalry divisions have pushed forward and now are nearing the Tagliamento River. Great numbers of aeroplanes preceding the Italian troops are using their machine guns on the retreating enemy columns.

The Italians also are fast advancing in the direction of Udine and Pordenone already has been taken. The Third Army, reinforced by marines, has occupied the whole intricate zone along the Adriatic. Belluna has been occupied by the Twelfth Army, while at the extreme eastern sector of the front Italian marines have occupied Caprio.

AUSTRIANS FLEE BEFORE THE ALLIES

Teuton Army Shattered by Terrific Blows Rained by Entente Forces

London, Nov. 1.—Austria's armies, shattered by the blows of Italian, British and French forces, are fleeing pell-mell on a front of more than 100 miles from the Brenna River, east and south to the Adriatic. Apparently the enemy has lost all power of resistance. Countless prisoners are being taken by the Allies.

East of the Piave all the Allied armies are marching rapidly toward the Tagliamento in pursuit of the retreating Austrians. The Livenza River, fifteen miles east of the Piave and eighteen miles from the Tagliamento, has been crossed, while along the lowlands north of the Adriatic the Italian Third Army continues to progress.

The formidable enemy defence bastion around Monte Grappa has been broken and the Austrians are retreating hurriedly from the region between the Brenta and the Piave.

Northeast of Monte Grappa Italian troops have forced their way through the Quero Gorge and are moving up the Piave Valley toward Belluno, further enlarging the wedge between the Austrian armies in Venetia and those in the mountains.

Internal Situation.
Austria-Hungary's internal situation is as bad if not worse, than that of her armies on the Italian front. Count Michael Karolyi announces the institution of a republic at Budapest after a successful revolution, and Archduke Joseph, the Emperor's representative, has left the city. Emperor Charles, in departing from Vienna, it is reported, instructed the authorities to hand over the Government to the new power without resistance. During the turmoil in Budapest Count Tisza, the former Hungarian Premier, was assassinated.

Reports on conditions in Germany are meagre, due probably to the German censorship. Kaiser Wilhelm is said to have gone to German grand headquarters. Reports of the Kaiser's abdication still persist.

NEW YORK STOCKS AGAIN REACTIONARY

War Stocks Under Pressure; Steel Stocks Were Weak To-day

(By Burdick Bros. & Brett, Ltd.)
New York, Nov. 1.—The rally of yesterday was carried into the early trading today and stocks acted well for the first two hours. The professional element started to pound Bethlehem Steel and knocked it down five points, the other steel stocks had to stand a good share of selling as a result of the weakness in Bethlehem. The market was spotty for the rest of the day. The railroad stocks were firm and in some cases made small gains. The oil stocks started off with a rush, but broke badly in the afternoon. As a summing up it could be said that there was free selling in stocks which the professionals consider to be peace stocks and a good class of buying in the railroads, which are looked upon as the best of the peace issues.

MY MESSAGE TO LABOR

By Ben Tillett, M.P.

Gorged with murder-blood and treasure, the Kaiser, Ludendorff and the whole gang of Junkers—their maddest ambitions more than satisfied by the crushing of small nations, the corruption of other nations and the anarchy of Russia—started out on a new and still more arrogant offensive.

Gorged With Territory.

They are flinging away millions more of lives of the industrial people of the European nations, including their own, to gratify their insatiable ambitions. They are bleeding remorselessly the working people of the world to gorge themselves with territory, military glory and wealth. It all makes the position terribly clear to us who carry the industrial burden. The characteristic of the bully-German is simply rapacity. And now he has to face the cost of his own supreme mistake.

The German Mistake.

His mistake is thus defying the world has brought him to-day face to face with the moral antagonism of the world organized into an iron military resistance, and behind that resistance is the psychology of a great spiritual courage locking the organized fight that the free nations are putting up. All nations can now see that to be at the mercy of Germany, as the peoples of Eastern Europe, and Russia, and Turkey, and to experience the grinding heel of unrelenting oppression.

New Brutalities.

The German is now adding to the unspeakable barbarism of the war such wicked implements as the new machine striping men's bodies of clothes and skin alike and murders them where they stand in trench or dugout. But the Germans are beginning to regret their own malignancy by reason of our effective reprisals, and I hope that everything will be done to quicken transport, to expedite sending out to our men at the front the power that will relieve them and throw the enemy into confusion and press them back. Every ton of shells, every consignment of guns, every crate of gas-masks, every cargo of rails and sleepers that reaches the front without hitch, every ship that leaves the slips and sets out on its voyages is a direct blow to the German menace.

How the Workers Help.

The dockers and the riveters, the shell-maker and the chemical worker, the worker in the factories and in the fields, who put through with all speed the supplies of food and munitionment—all are helping our men at the front to break the power of the bullies over the people.

The Dragoning of Slaves.

So inflated with pride have the Kaiser and his Junkers become, such ascendancy have the military authorities acquired, that they have been able to repress all the elements of social power in their own country. Their workers are taken by the ten thousand, exposed ruthlessly to the most galling fire of our musketry and artillery alike. The military autocracy of Prussia is dragging its slaves and driving them on to death in order to gratify their own ambitions and enfeeble the internal powers of their own social democracy. And through these slaves of theirs they are perpetrating upon our men every atrocity conceivable.

If the Tyrants Won.

If such tyrants became triumphant on the Western Front what a hell would lie before us! Even with victory attending us, the industrial workers will be faced by years of economic strain. But if we had to add to the expenses of the war the addition of an indemnity to be paid to an enemy, the burden upon labor would amount to an overwhelming slavery. Taxes for indemnity payments and for enormous armaments would be chained to our backs and to the backs of our children and their children. With food still at high prices our whole position would become intolerable. The greater part of that whole burden would necessarily be assumed by industry and industrialism.

"We Must Back Up Our Men."

What it would mean to have our own debts with those of the enemy superimposed upon them baffles the imagination. But that is what would come upon us if we allowed our army and navy to be crushed by any slackness or apathy on our part. We must back up our men with every effort and give to their dependents every succor. There is not a man among them who is not ready to lay down his life for us, and we must do our level best for them.

Who Ben Tillett Is.

Benjamin Tillett, who sent this message to Labor, is one of England's foremost Labor leaders. A man of extraordinary industry and energy, he has done much for the cause of the working man in the organization of trades unions and in pleading the cause of Labor with the pen, from the platform and in Parliament, where he sits as Independent member for North Stafford. He has been at various times a brickmaker, a fisherman, a sailor and a sailor in the merchant and naval services, having been invalided from the latter. Leaving the sea he became a dockman, organized the Dockers' Union, and is now secretary of the Dock, Wharf, Riverside and General Workers' Union of Great Britain and Ireland.

Ben Tillett, since the war broke out, has labored unceasingly to promote war industry, and particularly the production of munitions. He has thrice visited the fighting line and has delivered innumerable lectures in support of the vigorous prosecution of the war, both by the armistice in the field and by the industrial workers at home.

DOCTOR SUN

By Dr. Willie C. Campbell, in The Journal of American Surgery, New York.

The sun as a therapeutic agent was used by the ancients, and for centuries mention of this measure may be found in medical literature. Various savage tribes and animals, notably the dog, seem to divine the beneficial action of when ill to the direct solar rays.

The exposure of a part of the body affected by disease, "local heliotherapy," has been employed with some degree of success for many years in the treatment of various disorders of the skin and bones, but the systematic and scientific dosage of the entire body, "general heliotherapy," is a comparatively new method, evolved and perfected by Rollier, of Loysin, Switzerland, to whom full credit should be given. General heliotherapy, in contradistinction to local heliotherapy, is of paramount interest at the present time on account of the number of "war-wounds" amenable to the solar treatment. In fact, the measure is now being employed in many of the military hospitals of France, notably the American Hospital, with excellent results.

The administration of the solar rays is by no means a simple task, especially in private practice. The closest scrutiny is necessary at all times or the treatment will rarely if ever be carried to a successful termination. I have seen many failures, resulting from a lack of appreciation of the importance of employing the measure in a scientific and rigid manner. Dosage and the reaction on the part of the patient must be observed constantly. We would not expect curative action of the solar ray by bidding our patient to go out in the sun with the instruction "expose yourself as much as possible." Each case must receive detailed instructions as to length of time, the amount of body surface, etc. The greatest care must be taken to avoid dermatitis. The effect on the hemoglobin, white and red cells, should be noted. X-ray examinations must be made at intervals. The correct dosage for each patient should be worked out by experience. Some can stand frequent exposures for short intervals, others continuous exposure. Many are seriously affected by the midday sun, while some do well, regardless of the heat.

About five years ago, I became interested in heliotherapy, and first used the method on an apparently hopeless tuberculous spine and hip-joint of an adult with such a rapid and remarkable cure that I at once instituted the solar treatment in the orthopedic service of several local hospitals. Since which time I have been convinced that the beneficial effect on the diseased process is chiefly due to the action of the sun's rays on the skin surface of the entire body, for there is no comparison in the local and general improvement of patients simply living out of doors in the fresh air and sunshine and those on whom systematic heliotherapy has been properly administered.

In special institutions for the purpose, much undoubtedly could be accomplished in the way of military surgery at the present time, as the method must be carried out under most rigid discipline in order to effect the desired results.

Heliotherapy is far-reaching in its effects and undoubtedly will be found of great value, not only in the treatment of affections of bones and joints, but for the cure of various disorders elsewhere in the body.

THE SECRET OF SAVING

lies in spending to the best advantage—getting the most for your money. That is what you do when you buy Zam-Buk, and that is why Zam-Buk is the choice of the good housekeeper and careful buyer.

When you buy Zam-Buk you get 100% medicine—not 5% medicine and the balance "fill up" as in ordinary mixtures. This explains why Zam-Buk goes so much farther than ordinary ointments and why the results are so much better. Zam-Buk is soothing, healing and antiseptic. It ends pain, destroys all germs in a sore or wound—thus preventing any danger of blood-poisoning—and grows new skin. A Zam-Buk cure is permanent because it purifies and heals not only the surface skin, but also the underlying tissues, so that there is no possibility of the disease breaking out again.

Zam-Buk is composed exclusively of vegetable oils and herbal extracts, with absolutely no animal fat or poisonous mineral drugs, which only irritate the parts they are intended to heal. It can, therefore, be used on the most sensitive skin and is the best balm for baby.

It is also best for eczema, ringworm, boils, pimples, ulcers, abscesses, blood poisoning and piles. All dealers of Zam-Buk Co., Toronto. 50c. box, 1 for $1.25.

WEST COAST INDIANS SUFFER FROM GRIPPE

Anglican Missionary Says War Industries Are Keeping Alive People of Settlements

"Fishing is proceeding briskly on the West Coast in spite of the influenza epidemic," says Rev. Arnold Stackhouse, of the Anglican West Coast Mission, who is at the Dominion Hotel. "The most serious outbreak," he states to The Times, "has taken place at Kildonan, where seven Indians have died. Milder attacks are reported from other centres, and I understand two doctors will be specially attached to the West Coast Agency in order to enforce preventive measures on the Indians, who owing to their refusal to obey ordinary directions, and to taking common precautions are very susceptible to disease. The condition of some of the native villages is bound to give an opportunity to the inroads of the scourge."

Fishing Activities

The run of pilchards at Kildonan and Nootka is about over, says Mr. Stackhouse, and has been surprisingly good. This fish, to which considerable attention has been given this season, is classified at the Provincial Museum as the Californian sardine. The herring run is now fast approaching its maximum, and on the whole the salmon season has been good, he adds.

The spruce camps are active at various points on the West Coast, and "in fact," observes Mr. Stackhouse, "the West Coast is living on a war-time boom in fish and lumber. Agriculture is practically dead, and the majority of pre-emptors are disgruntled, though some are struggling on. The camps attract the men, who are earning their living away from the land during the present demand for labor. Mining is not as active as a year ago, although some good copper prospects are being developed.

Mr. Stackhouse voices a complaint in connection with the staple industry of the West Coast, against the appropriation of fishing rights by American interests. He claims they are depleting the fisheries, and that all the money goes to the American side, the employees except the Chinese all coming from across the line.

Mr. Stackhouse says that the Kyusot whaling station, the only one operating this year on the West Coast, has had a good season, with large shipments of whale meat and other products of the mammal.

LATE MEMBER BURIED

Many Prominent Public Men Attended the Obsequies of Late Richard P. Wallis.

The Hon. William Sloan, Minister of Mines, W. J. Bower, K.C., M.P.P., Leader of the Opposition in the Legislature; R. H. Pooley, member for Esquimalt; H. S. Clements, Federal member for Comox-Alberni; George Jay, of Victoria; and Major Burde, M.C., and many other public men were in attendance at the obsequies of the late Richard P. Wallis, Conservative member for the Provincial riding of Alberni, which took place from the family residence at Parksville on Wednesday afternoon.

Before the cortege left the late member's home the Masonic service was conducted by John Shaw, of Nanaimo, Grand Master of British Columbia, and the Anglican service followed at the church at French Creek, interment taking place in the graveyard of the church.

William Astley, of Vancouver, who accompanied the late member to the East on a business trip, brought the body to the family residence from Moncton, N. B. The two had reached this point en route to Newfoundland when Mr. Wallis was stricken with influenza. Lack of proper medical and nursing attention for at least twenty-four hours was occasioned by the seriousness of the epidemic at that time, and following the death of Mr. Wallis, Mr. Astley himself was a sufferer, it being some days before he was able to return westwards with the body.

BANKS WILL HELP SMALL INVESTORS

It is announced that, in order to encourage investors to participate in the 1918 Victory Loan, the Banks will lend subscribers, on the probable certainty of repayment within a year, up to 99 per cent of the amount of the investment in the Loan. The rate of interest charged by the banks is 5 1/2 per cent.

This should have the effect of greatly stimulating the flow of money when the big drive opens. Many people who were anxious to do their bit towards supporting the boys at the front were unfortunately restricted as to the amount they had available for investment, having immediate or future obligations which called for their ready capital. It is such as these that Banks are ready to help. On reasonable security these intending investors may receive the cash from the Bank at the same rate of interest, the Dominion Government pays for the entire 1918 Victory Loan. They may reduce their obligations to the Banks monthly or quarterly.

The Banks will also accept from small investors for safe keeping without charge the interim securities and later the bonds themselves up to a reasonable amount, for the term of one year.

NIGHT COUGH

You know it! It begins with a tickling, irritating sensation in your throat. You cough to clear the throat. In a moment there it is again!

A minute's peace, then again you cough, and so on until you cough your throat sore, and by the time the cough is sufficiently allayed to permit you to sleep, you are thoroughly worn out. This kind of experience is particularly trying to old people.

Peps make this sort of thing quite unnecessary.

Put a Peps pastille on your tongue and allow it to slowly dissolve. Healing fumes are then liberated, which mingle with the remotest parts of the air passages and lungs, allaying the irritation and soothing the inflamed membranes, thus ending the cough and making sleep possible.

Peps are also best for Bronchitis, laryngitis, asthma, sore throat and colds. Try Peps at our expense. Send this advertisement and a stamp (for return postage), to Peps Co., Toronto, and receive FREE TRIAL PACKAGE. All dealers, 50¢ box.
